LANE
A MEMORY

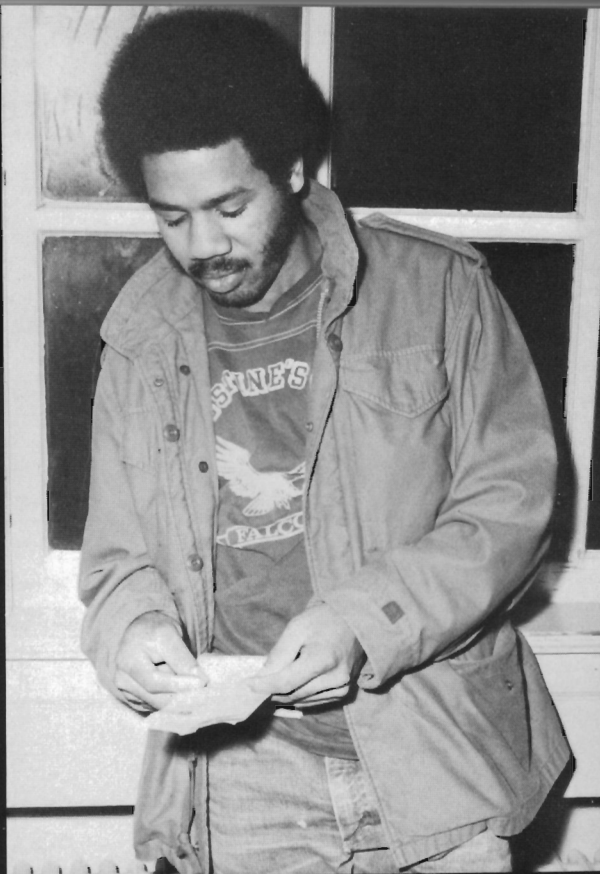

THE YEARBOOK EDITOR AND STAFF PRESENT WITH PLEASURE
A YEARBOOK OF THE SCHOOL YEAR, 1973-1974,
THE 56th LINK OF THE CHAIN
LANE HIGH SCHOOL
CHARLOTTESVILLE, VIRGINIA
MAY, 1974

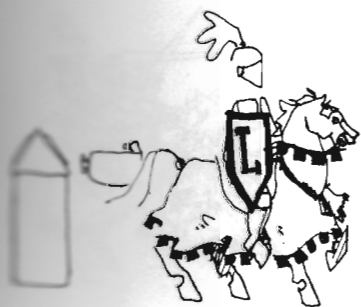

A link with the past

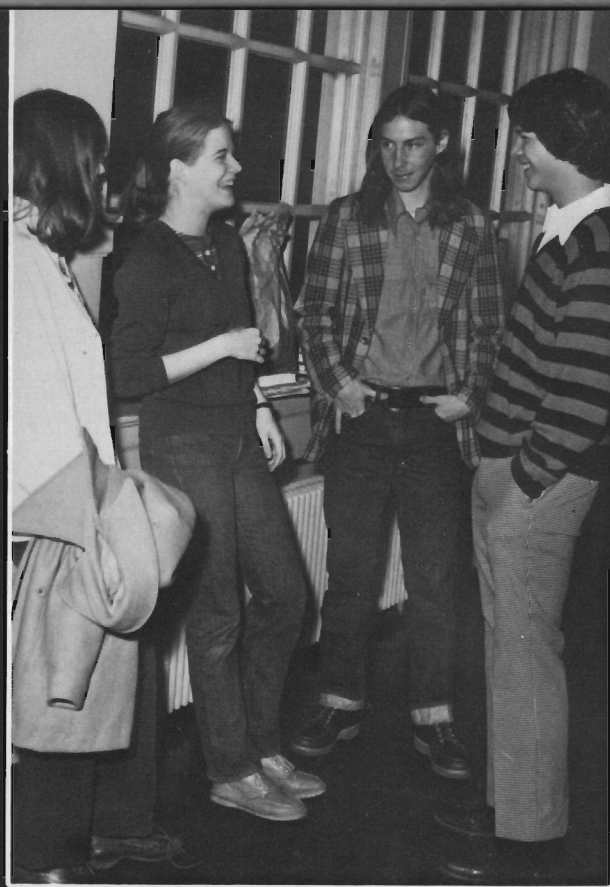

Walls, a ceiling, and a floor
 Too small to accommodate 1300 roving inmates
 Cracked paint and graffiti on window sills
 Gummed up water fountains
 A pathway treaded daily from one classroom to another
 The destined meeting point for masses of students
 A rendezvous for "discrete" lovers
 A chamber filled with laughter, yells,
 and the scuffling of feet
 A news media with its collage of spirit posters and advertisements
 An escape from hours of work
 A niche for quiet contemplation
 Something in common with all generations
 A Lane hall
 A memory.

TOP LEFT: A stroll down the hall gives Tim Johns time to tell Debbie Davis a joke. TOP RIGHT: During an unusually quiet moment, Amos Wells reads a letter. ABOVE: Stair climbing is a dreaded necessity for Mandy Griffin. LEFT: Morning news is shared by Audrey Simpson, Debbie Morris, Karen Sampson, Joel Carver, and Donna Martin. OPPOSITE PAGE, TOP: Mysterious signs in the hall are later found to be the work of the CHAIN staff. BOTTOM LEFT: The hall provides Neil Hamilton with the quietness needed to take a make-up test. BOTTOM RIGHT: Classmates, Mary Gianakos and Liz Huegel, frown about their latest assignment.

Friends are unforgettable

Boyfriends, girlfriends, all-around friends

Characterized by togetherness

Working together — cheating

Relaxing together — study hall
blues

Eating and drinking together —
bumming at parties

Smoking together — foggy restrooms

Cruising together — having to siphon
gas out of a nearby car

Skiping class with a friend, reminding him of the old "... divided we fall" saying

Argument after argument

Breaking up just for the fun of making up again, and again, and again

Telling secrets

Laughing at each other's weak jokes

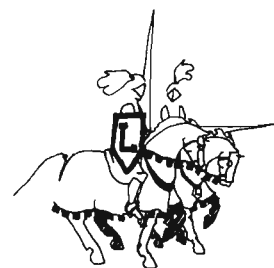

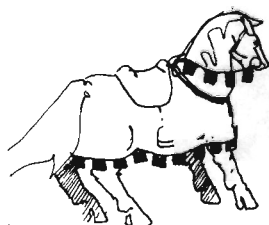

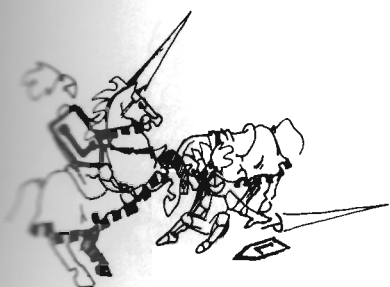

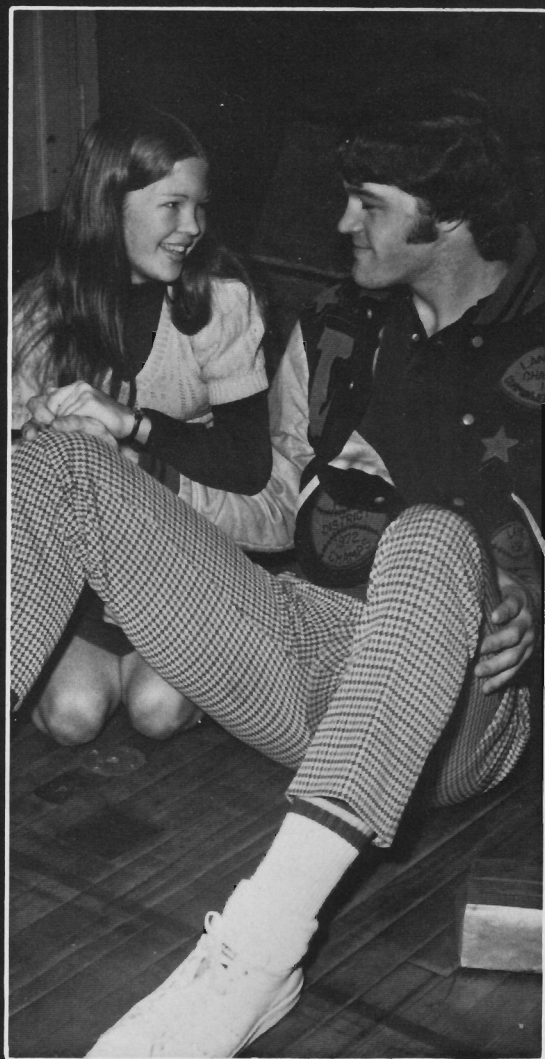

Lane friends

Memories.

BELOW: Hypnotized by each other, Patricia Milby and Mike Shifflett ignore gym noises. BOTTOM LEFT: Library books are shared by Susan Foster and Karen Kabir. OPPOSITE PAGE, TOP LEFT: The lobby serves as a meeting place for several seniors. TOP RIGHT: Joke telling is a favorite pastime for Brenda Bingler, Betty Collins, Mike Lilliston, and Mike Bugg. BOTTOM: The low temperatures of January do not chase Scott Mahanes and Barrie Adams inside.

Traditional patterns

Lockers

A spin of the dial, a quick kick, and an "open sesame, please!"

The library

Clocking in, skipping out

Filing schedule cards

Numb fingers

Earphones

A sticky discomfort for most language students

Bells

Reflexes put to the test

Halls

Gaining the ability to shrink and squeeze through gaps in the walls of people

Stairs

The pain of defying the law of gravity several times a day

Attendance office lines

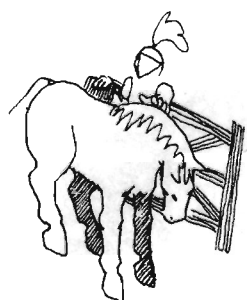

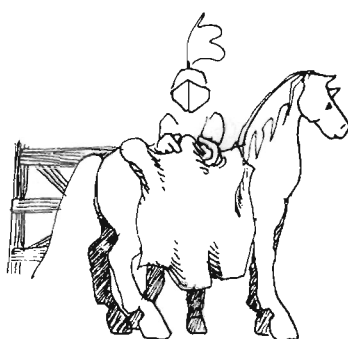

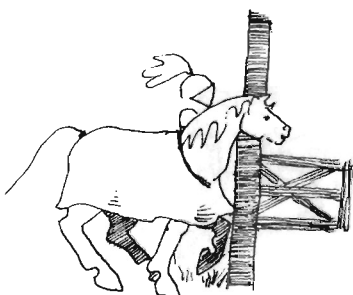

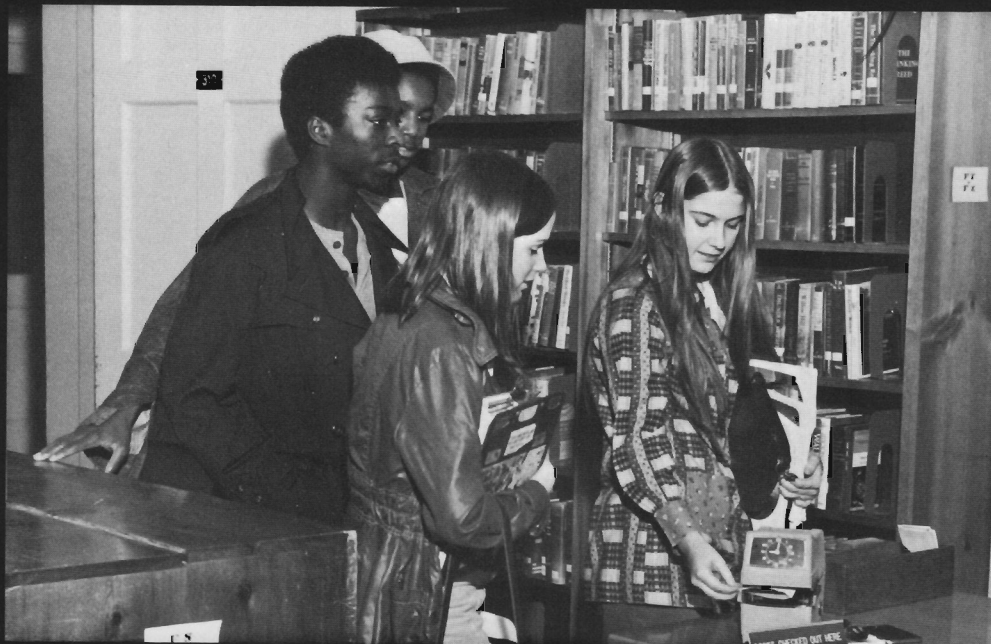

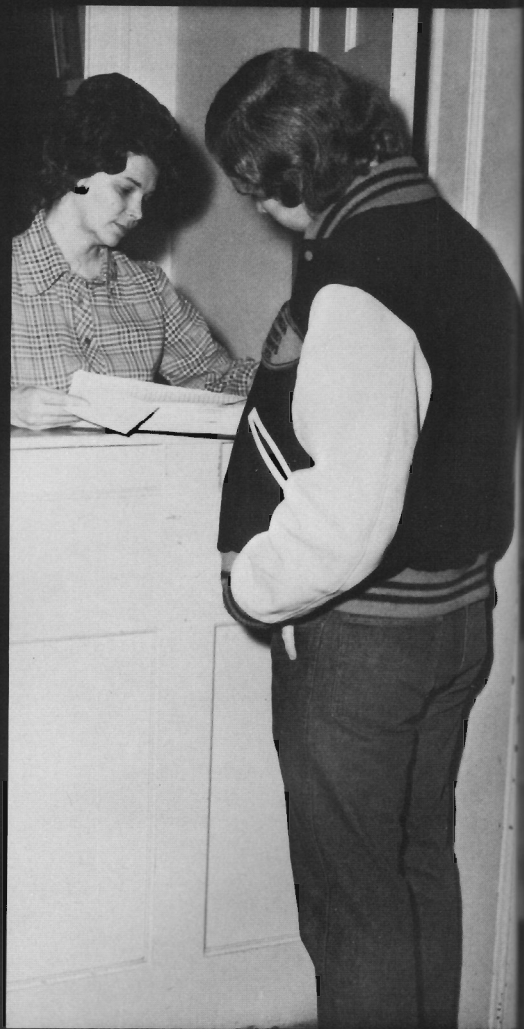

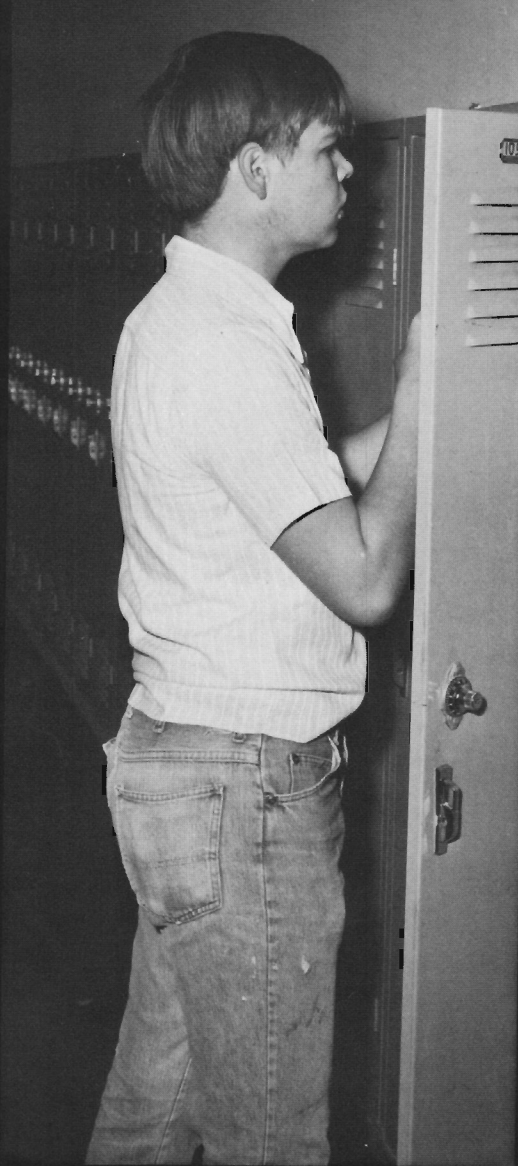

Everyone at Lane checking out to go to the same doctor

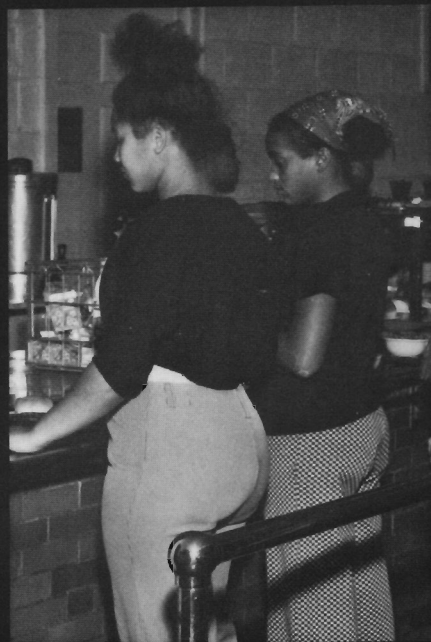

Lunch lines

The human instinct to compete Showing off while onlookers become nauseated by such an outward display of conceit

A test of brain power

Trying to discriminate between wise
gambles and mere stupidity

Accepting dares

While the teacher's back is turned gliding a paper airplane past his head

Testing the glue content in Gummy Bears

Supposedly studying but really leaving educational books unopened

Games played by flunking student who'd rather flatter his teacher
than do his work

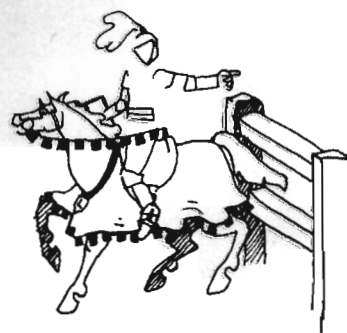

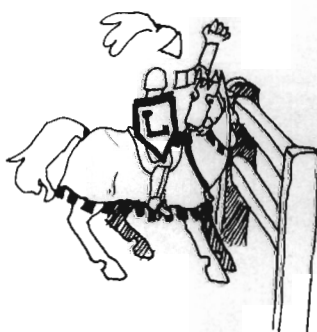

Lane playtime

ABOVE: The stern face of authority is speckled with Gummy Bears. OPPOSITE PAGE, TOP LEFT: Unable to find a suitable library book, Sherri Ford settles for the comics. TOP RIGHT: The trampoline is more a pleasure than a challenge for Lance Hensley. BOTTOM: A long bomb attempt by Kelly Logan might be blocked by Jeffrey Johnson.

STUDENT LIFE

Titles change

Administrative changes mark the beginning of this school year. While Mr. Murray assumes the role of Acting Principal, students survive the effortless opening of the academic session: Endless computerized forms create near-faultless schedules and a smooth introduction to new classes. As timeworn steps face their final September opening of Lane High School, students adjust to the new titles — Sophomore, Junior or SENIOR.

What's that big yellow bus?

At the beginning of the school year, many Lane students notice a mysterious school bus cruising through the parking lot. The bus belongs to Albemarle County and it is here to pick up and drop off Lane students who go to the new Charlottesville-Albemarle Vocational Technical Center, otherwise known as the Vo-Tech Center. This is the first year it is being used, and is operated jointly by the city and county. The center offers twelve programs of study for Lane and Albemarle students. Among these programs are Carpentry, Data Processing, Electronics, and Practical Nursing. Each student taking courses at the center is expected to spend a 3-hour block of time each day on his program.

BOTTOM LEFT: Learning about food services is David Jones' specialty. BOTTOM RIGHT: Television mechanics interests Ann Henderson. MIDDLE RIGHT: Vo-Tech student Ester Wood practices cosmetology. MIDDLE LEFT: Practical nursing engrosses Debbie Morris and Barbara Wood. BELOW: Carpentry demands much of Ray Jones' time. LEFT: The broad expanse of the Vo-Tech building is seen from Rio Road. OPPOSITE PAGE, TOP RIGHT: Demonstrating the complication of electronics is Kenny Beasley. MIDDLE: While waiting for students, the big yellow bus sits patiently. BOTTOM LEFT: Learning the masonry trade, Johnathan Scott, Fitzpatrick Shelton, Greg MacGruder, and Robert Jones toil over the bricks. BOTTOM RIGHT: Working on a motor is Bruce Templeton's favorite assignment.

Making money

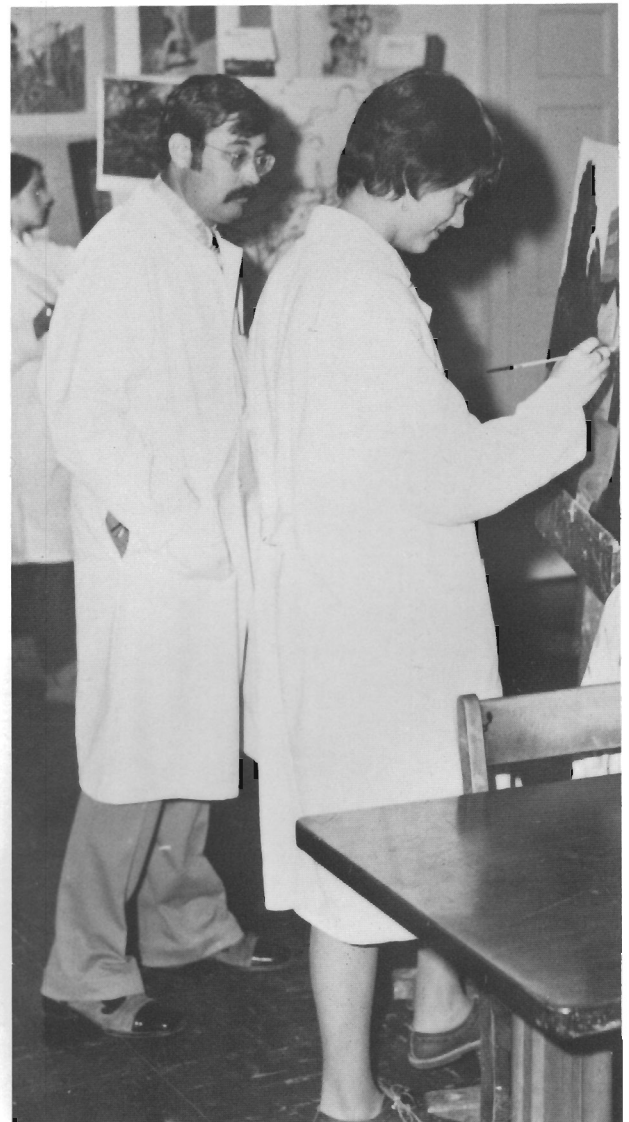

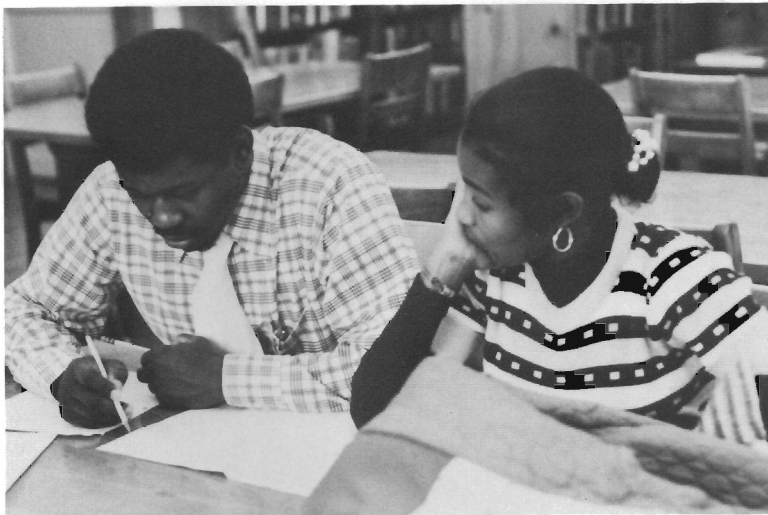

The sounds of money making echo through Lane's halls anywhere at any time. While German students are profiting from Gummi Bears and Sugus, the Sophomore Class is busy selling packages of Smiles and the Ecology club offers tasty coffee cakes. No one goes through the halls without being asked at least once to buy something. Amusingly students are more interested in edible sales efforts than in light bulbs, yearbooks, and newspapers.

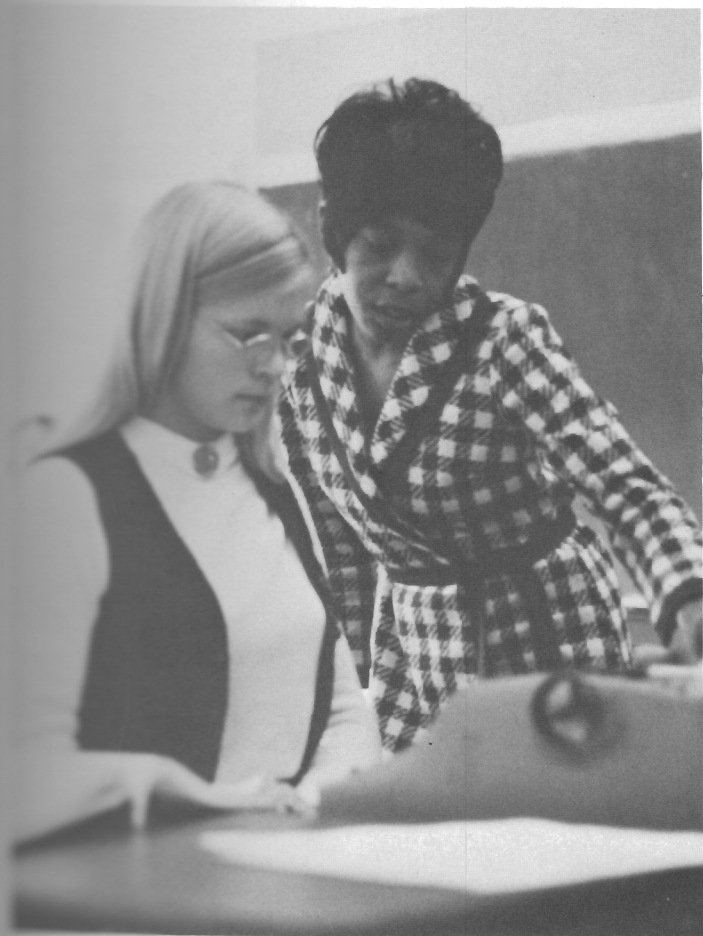

Working together

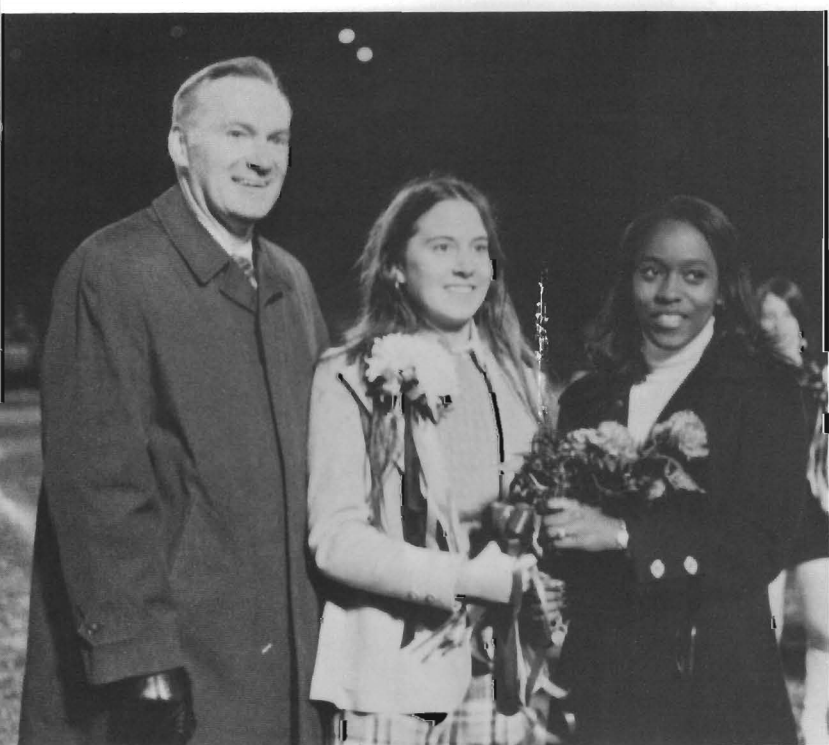

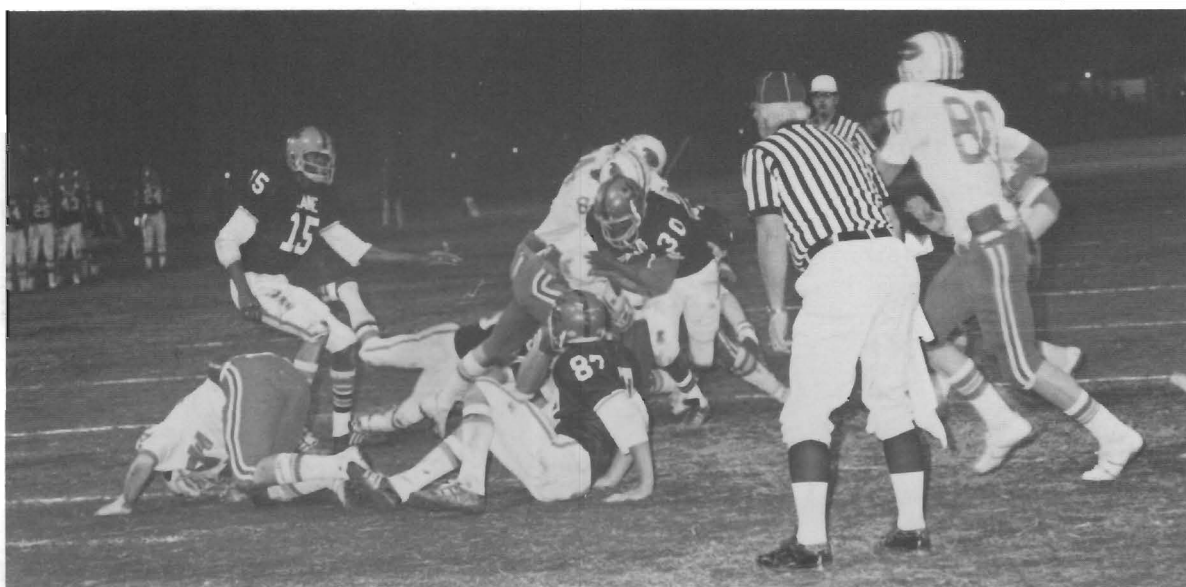

As educators strive to better instruction, they apply new techniques to promote understanding and appreciation. Several Lane faculty members are utilizing the concept of working one with one. The Emergency School Assistance Act funds have provided five tutors to aid students. The Guidance Department and administrators find that they get to know students best when individual conferences are held. Teachers, too, are developing individualized instruction to update their classes.

Travels down "memory lane"

Thoughts of Homecoming always evoke a certain aura of excitement and expectation. One wonders with whom he will attend the dance, whether Lane will win the game, and who will be the new queen. By adding a parade to the traditional events, the S.C.A. hopes to make this last Homecoming one never to be forgotten. As the floats proceed down Main Street, the crowds laugh at the numerous clowns and walking Gummi Bears, and reminisce when they hear the old song "You Ain't Nothing But a Hound Dog."

During halftime the Sophomore and Junior attendants, three Senior princesses, and the first male princess at Lane are escorted to the center of the field to await the final decision. The crowd cheers when Wendy MacLeod is named Homecoming Queen and is presented with a bouquet of roses by last year's Queen, Elva Mason.

The big success of the night is the Lane Black Knight victory over the Garfield Indians, 21 to 25.

Orange and black crepe paper draped over wires transforms the gym into a "Memory Lane" for the dance. With record attendance of 177 couples, the dance floor is crowded with students gyrating to the tunes of the Music Gallery. Lane's last Homecoming will undoubtedly be remembered as the best.

TOP: Crammed into a Volkswagen, Key Club members still manage to display enthusiasm. CENTER: Dim lights and good music create the right atmosphere for the dance. BOTTOM: The band, Music Gallery, performs for Lane's Homecoming.

A usually unusual day

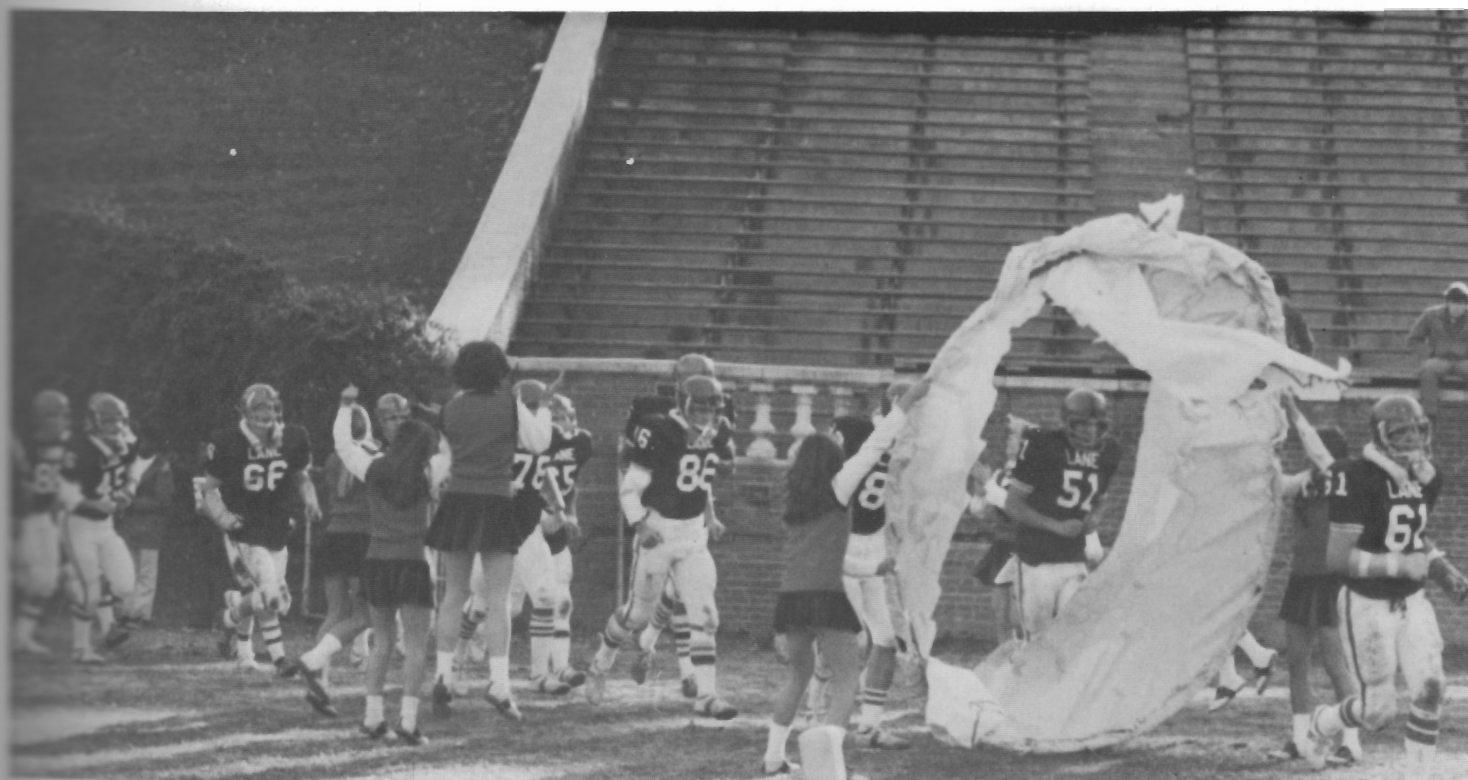

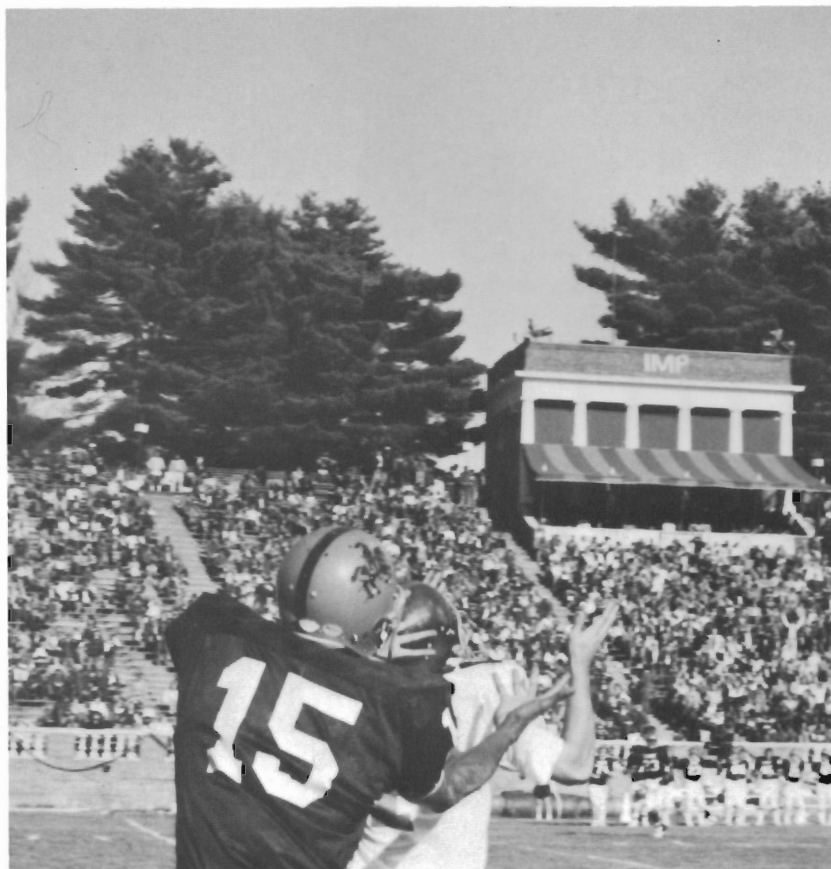

Apathetic students come alive during the pre Lane-Albemarle game week. Collected nickels are translated into links of a spirit chain while absolute transformations of character result in Grit Day. For one day jeans and clogs are traded for the hayseed look, the stylish couture of Lane's neighboring rivals.

Final clash

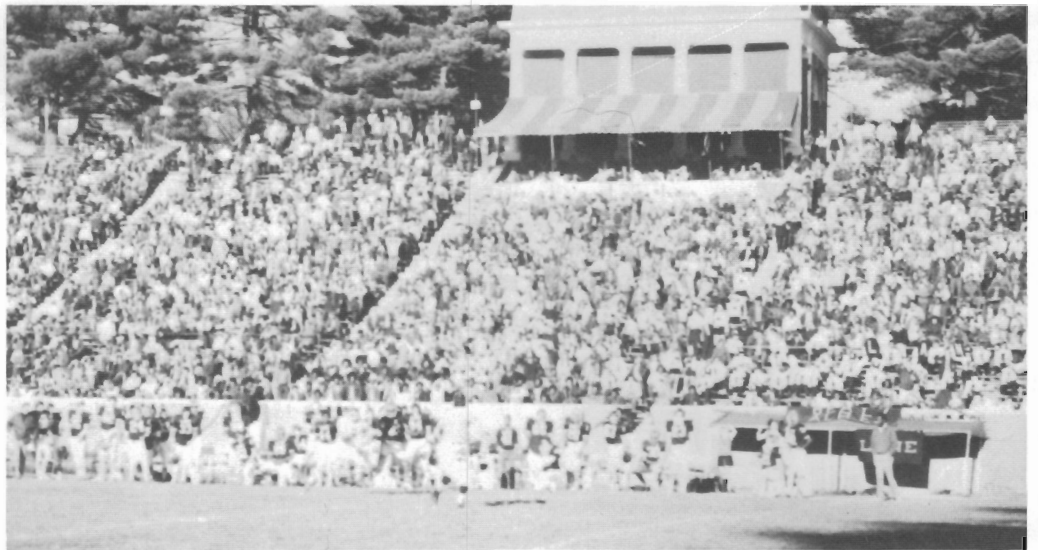

Popcorn, cokes and hotdogs can never appease the crowds which attend the Lane-Albemarle games at Scott Stadium. With high hopes for final victory in this traditional rivalry, both Lane students and community spectators witness the first and last defeat of the Lane Black Knights by the neighboring Patriots. Some consolation for the discouraged fans comes from the Lane victory in the spirit chain competition as well as from a comical show of riding ability as the Patriot slides from his horse when he enters the stadium.

Crowds gather

While individualism is a timely educational technique, groups of Lane students still cluster at every opportunity. Each nook of the school grounds offers a haven for these beelike swarms. Social cliques, athletic teams, club members and smoking buddies meet in designated spots everyday of the term. For eight hours a day, 180 days a year the crowds seek the security and friendship of a gathering clan.

TOP: Disregarding cigarette butts and an overflowing trash can, skipping students converse. MIDDLE: Cheering supporters acknowledge the truth of the signs, which hang behind them. LEFT: Mixed feelings about the crowded bus are apparent from the faces of tentative passengers as the line shortens.

Indians win battle

Practices begin early November for the traditional Powder Puff Game. Sweatshirts and jeans replace feminine attire, as enthusiastic girls master physical skills usually attributed to their male counterparts. Finally a brisk Sunday afternoon in December finds the forces of Cowboys and Indians ready for the gridiron battle. Accompanied by chants from daintily garbed, bountifully endowed cheerleaders, the girls struggle for victory. Deftly handling the ball, Charlotte Reynolds wins the contest for the Senior girls, as the final score tallies 6-0.

Talents unite

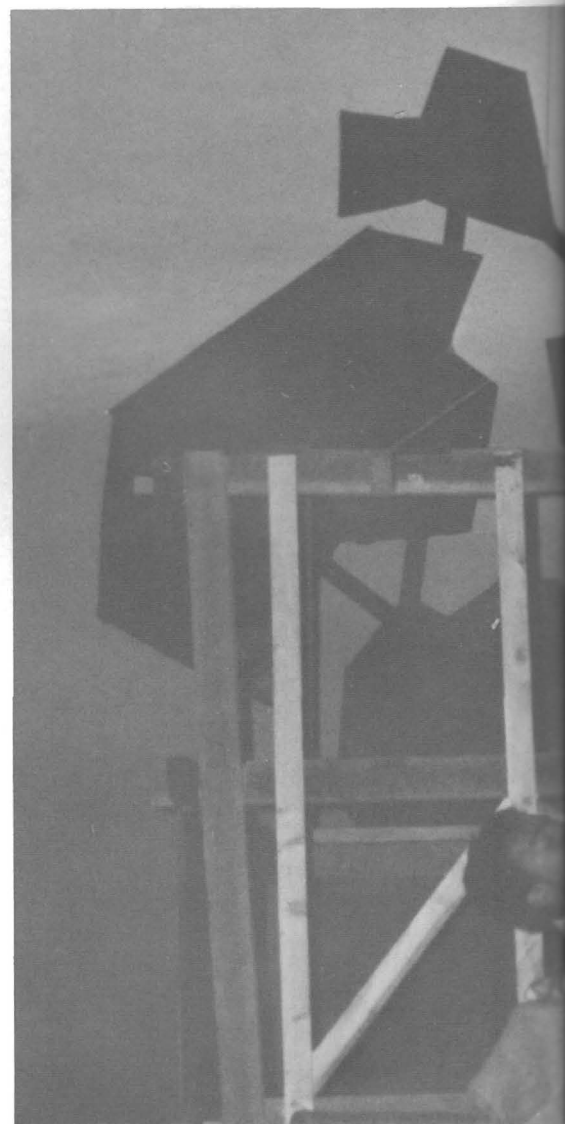

On the nights of November 30 and December 1, the Lane stage vibrates as the first musical in its history, BRIGADOON, is performed. The sound of melodic voices and laughter fill the auditorium's crowded seats.

With the combined efforts of the Player's Club, Music Department, Art Department, and their respective advisors, the musical is produced.

These two nights provide the audience with fun and relaxation. For the cast, orchestra, and directors, the performances mean the end of seven weeks of exhausting rehearsals.

Smiles and tears at the end of the second performance indicate a successful first attempt at bringing musical theatre to Lane High School.

Rings arrive

Much anticipation fills the Junior year and the event that stands out is the arrival of the class rings. As we prepare for our new school, two styles of rings provide the Junior class with a variety of golden memories. After eleven years of education students find much pride in wearing their well-deserved rings.

Lane snowed in

Radios are tuned to emergency information from the first snowflake of an approaching storm. Their prayers answered, students hear the good news, "City schools will be closed today." Returning to school after their unexpected vacation, Laneites fight slippery roads and consequent spinning tires to enter a barely populated building. Illegal snowball fights and lunchtime treks into the snow covered courts and front lawn make the first days back more lively. Teachers and students are insulated for arctic weather as they assume a carnival attitude possible only after a snow day.

Students display holiday spirit

Pinatas and parties mark the last day before Christmas vacation. However student spirit increases throughout pre-Christmas school days as seniors make decorations to ornament the lobby tree and homerooms rush to complete door decorations before judges appear. Holiday spirit is enhanced by strolling senior carolers and by visits from our North and South pole Santas and Mrs. Claus.

 BELOW: Laughing, Mark Davis reads his Christmas list to Santa. MIDDLE: Student carolers enjoy the Christmas holidays.
 BOTTOM: Showing Bill Buxton and Audrey Williams her clean hands, Linda Barbour recites her Christmas wishes.

Musicians seek perfection

Nervous stomachs and butterflies accompany the first selections of any band concert. Then, confident that practice and rehearsals are adequate, the musicians relax and enjoy their own music. The Jazz Ensemble contributes its efforts to the music schedule with individual performances both at Lane and also at community activities.

Appetites appeased

Brown bags produce endless wonders for some Lane lunchers, while others take their chances in the sandwich or lunch line. Eager appetites consume gallons of milk and untold fresh baked rolls in an effort to sustain life through midday starvation. With the formality of eating completed, friends share morning tales and plan afternoon excursions.

A place in the sun

Early on January 24, the Man and His Environment class departs for the yearly field study in the Florida Everglades. Students have the opportunity to spend ten days learning in the sun. The study serves to tie together two basic concepts of the course; science and man's own influence and relationships in his environment. The group hikes many trails, including a three mile trudge through the swamp itself. Canoe trips and an airboat are taken, as well as a boat trip to an untamed beach. The wilds of the swamp are sharply contrasted with the overpopulated Miami area and its adverse effect on the Everglades community.

New perspective

Once a year Lane students observe Black Culture Week, a time set aside to increase the awareness of the Blackman and his heritage. Events scheduled for this week are: on Monday, a talk by Mrs. Alicia Lugo of Central Virginia OIC, a slide presentation by Mr. James Robinson, an expert on African culture, and a speech by Lane student Michael Flannigan entitled "Integration: Success or Failure." Tuesday brings a panel discussion led by members of the Black Studies class on; "Black Culture Week: A Help or Hindrance." Rap sessions whose topics concern race relations at Lane are featured on Wednesday. The week ends with a two part assembly depicting the week's theme "We Came, We Saw, We Conquer." The play shows the Blackman arriving in America as a slave, struggling against prejudice and lastly his willingness to fight and overcome.

Winter's bars are lifted

Gentle breezes blowing window-shades into classrooms mark the infection period for Lane's spring fever. Medication for this ultra-contagious disease is unknown as students endeavor to absorb each warm day's atmosphere in early spring. The new out-to-lunch policy allows the legal pleasure of hamburgers and french fries under the warming sun; the return to school is the penalty for such a luxurious break, as winter slowly gives way to spring's balmy skies. Students feel the lacadaisical, irreplaceable impact of spring fever's symptoms — daydreams, forgotten homework, unexcused absences, and poor grades. Somehow, we all weather this annual illness and drift quietly into the joy of summer.

A short glimpse of old times

Thirty five years of a school's history cannot be condensed, because each student treasures his own special memories. However, as we prepare to leave Lane High School, it seems only appropriate that we scan the events that predominate in its history.

In 1939, Lane High School was built by the Work Projects Administration, and was named for James W. Lane, teacher, principal and school superintendent. The new high school replaced the outdated and overcrowded Charlottesville High School which was located in the Midway Building on Ridge Street, on the site of the present City Market.

From Lane's beginning, as attitudes toward education changed from teacher-oriented classes to student-centered classes, its standards have been high and its name known. In addition to academic achievement, Lane's students have excelled in every aspect of extracurricular activities. State championship football teams of the 60's have become the predominate sports legend.

Journalism, through CHAIN, LANETIME, and BUMBLEBEE, ranks among Lane's varied successes.

From Pre-World War II skirt lengths, through the era of saddle shoes and bobby socks, to the acceptance of pant suits and the return of platform shoes, Lane students have kept pace with the fashion styles. They have known the cycle of hair styles, too, from the extreme crew cut, to the slicked, groomed effect, and finally to the long and shaggy look, Laneites have always followed the fads.

Because of the increasing number of students at Lane, many noteworthy changes have taken place. The senior classes have outgrown Lane's auditorium and now graduation takes place at University Hall. Lane once held classes for grades seven through twelve; crowded conditions led to the construction of two junior high schools for seventh, eighth, and ninth grades. When Lane was first built, the parking lot could hold all the faculty and student cars; some students now have to park at the other end of the football field. With the merging of Lane and Burley to achieve total integration, crowded conditions again pointed to the need for a new high school in Charlottesville.

Lane High School has weathered the trials of thirty-five years. From fires to bomb threats, from social protests to underground newspapers, from defeat to victory, its memory will not be lost. Its spirit will stay with us forever.

New doors open

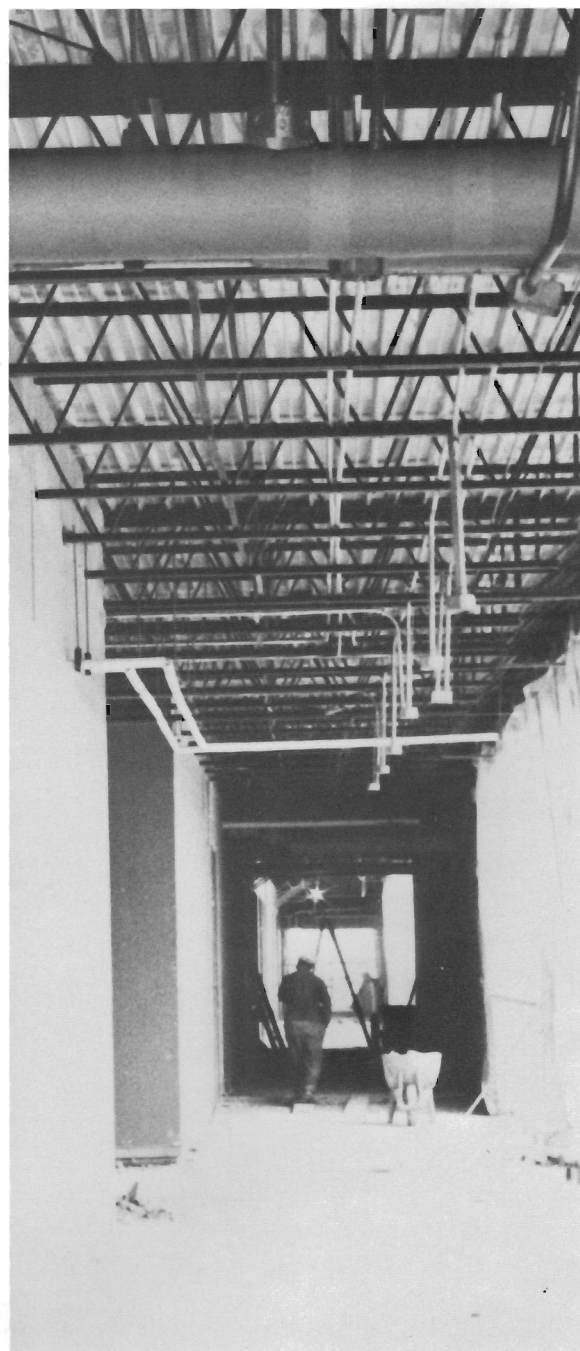

Chugging machinery and hard hats now prevail on the site of Charlottesville High School. Construction progress has been marked by the appearance of steel and concrete and grows with the addition of brick facing. As the interior of the building takes shape, halls and classrooms are evident and the completed structure seems a reality.

The transformation from a muddy field to a high school adequate for Charlottesville's youth has been a time consuming ordeal. With facilities capable of serving a multitude of teaching styles, students anticipate quality education in a modern setting.

Season is evaluated

Lack of experience and togetherness early in the schedule are blamed for the split season record of the varsity football team. Earning unanimous praise, head coaches Theodose and Bingler endeavor to whip a largely sophomore squad into shape for gridiron competition. Attempts to coordinate rookie and veteran players persist long into the season as the coaches strive to develop unity among team members. Ultimately co-captains Mike Hensley and Llew Kitchin rally the group to a spirit of cooperation and enthusiasm as the season draws to its conclusion. Unfortunately, this late burst of unity is not sufficient to build the faltering record into a winning season.

Players praise coaches

The Lane Football team goes through the season with a 5-5 record. It is the first time in over 10 years that the Black Knights have not had a winning season, but the players all agree that the coaching is great.

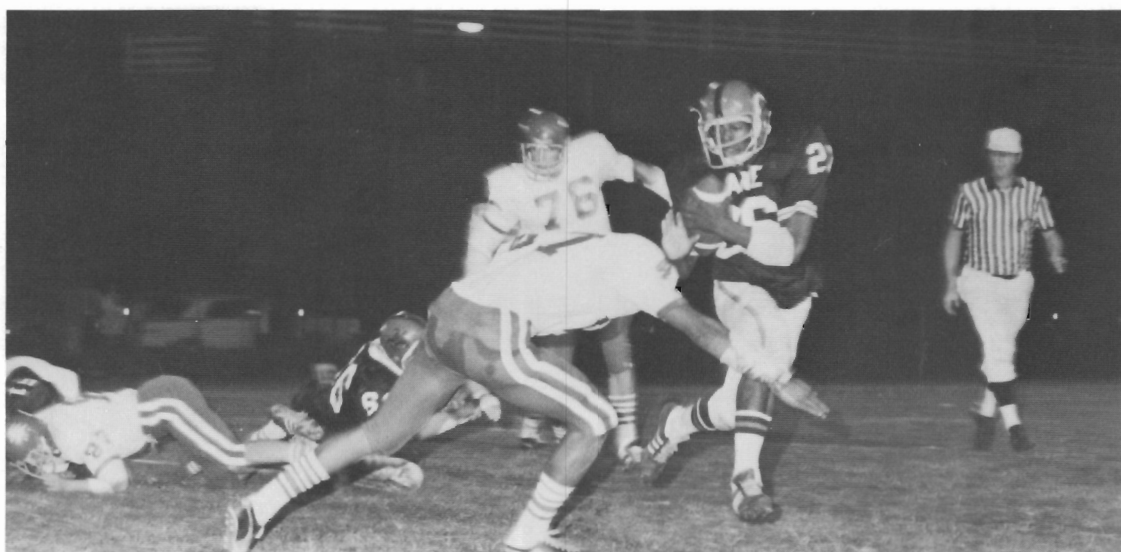

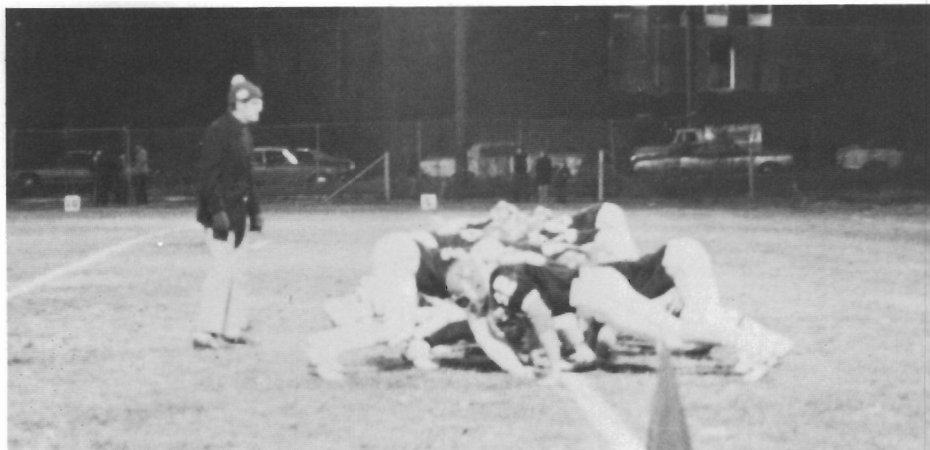

"Playing football at Lane was the biggest experience in my whole life as far as athletics go. The coaches are just great and I'm glad I have two more years with them."

Lane onward always

Lane is a name that will be remembered in football for a long time to come. It will not be remembered for a season or a special game, but for its overall records, the fifty-three game winning streak, the many able-bodied players who have started their careers here. We salute coaches Theodose and Binger for their dedication and achievement on the field. We salute not only this year's team but the teams of the past. Lane onward always.

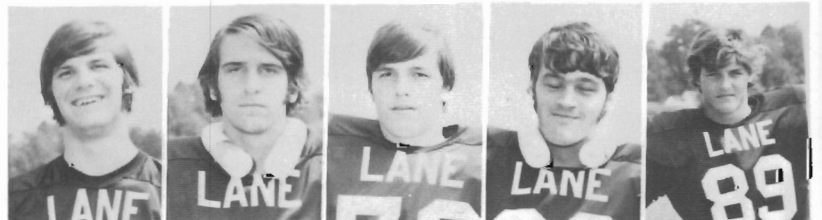

"The things I remember most about football is summer practice. Just the thought of ending your summer on August 10th to come down and put your bodies through pain you have never faced before, twice a day. Summer practice was so bad at times that people actually looked forward for school to start. When summer practice finally ends, you kind of get a sense of accomplishment. If a person can go all through summer practice without quitting, there is a good chance they won't quit when they reach another obstacle in life for them to overcome."

Coach Bob Willson leads the last Lane cross country team to a 7-4 record. Managers Martha Morris and Hayden Saunier and captain David Noble are student leaders of the team. In the district meet, Lane's harriers place fifth. The team acquires an eighth place ranking in the Regional meet. Doug Horn, Lane's sole representative at the State Meet, places seventeenth.

Victory reigns

Major injuries cripple the lady netters who overcome their handicaps to record a substantial 7-4 season. Efforts by co-captains Penny Norford and Sandra Coiner coordinate the starting five who ultimately defeat the Albemarle Patroits in both encounters, and win their chance to go to the district competition.

"We played hard. We played as a team. We had some of the best ball playing I've ever seen. I'm really proud of the girls."

Lane holds out till the end

Lane's basketball team for 1973-74 is a winning combination of fine players, great coaches, and student support. Coach Jimmy Jones has pushed, yelled, punished, and praised his team to a 17-5 record, culminating in the final round of district tournament play.

Honored by placement on the tournament team, Greg Arnette and Howard Randolph are high scorers for the Knights. During the season Greg breaks a school scoring record with forty-one points in one game.

Despite major injuries, the team's enthusiasm and togetherness has never wavered. The season is a credit to Lane's outstanding athletic program.

1973-74 JV's show promise

Spurred on by the excellent coaching of Cy Weaver, the Junior Varsity Basketball team has shot its way to a 16-4 winning season. At the start of each game two captains are elected for that game;

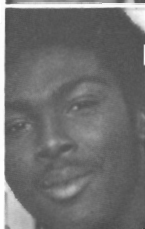

thus, each team member is allowed a chance to be captain. The experience gained by the 12 team members is an asset to future Varsity Basketball teams.

Grapplers hard at work

Cafeterias usually are associated with food services; however, Lane's cafeteria hosts wrestlers who gather there after school for practice. This facility adversity does not affect the attitude of dedicated team members.

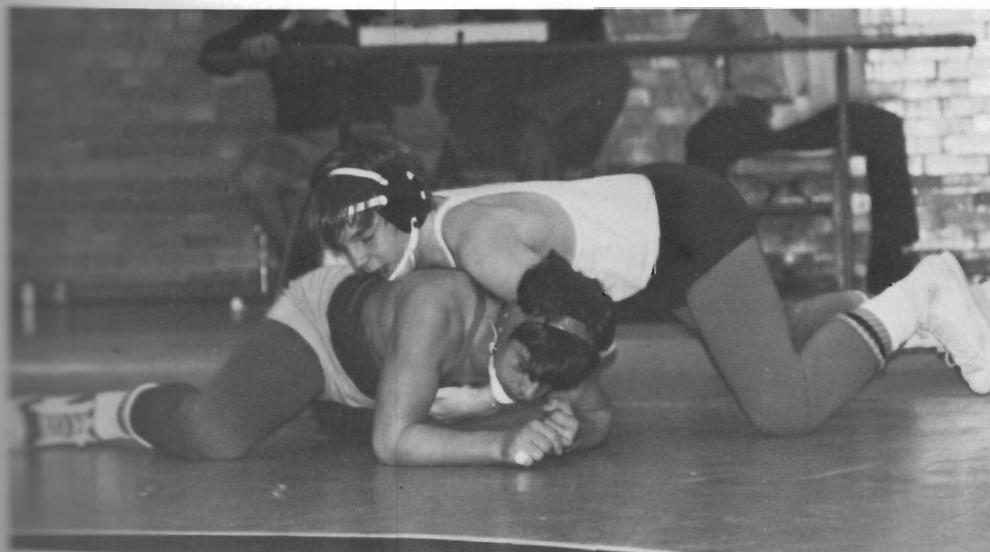

Cooperation and enthusiasm are the attributes which characterize the varsity grapplers. Assisting coaches Curtis Elder and Bob Romanac, are captains Larry Wood and Al Reynolds. With two entries in state competition the wrestlers evidence their ability.

ORGANIZATIONS

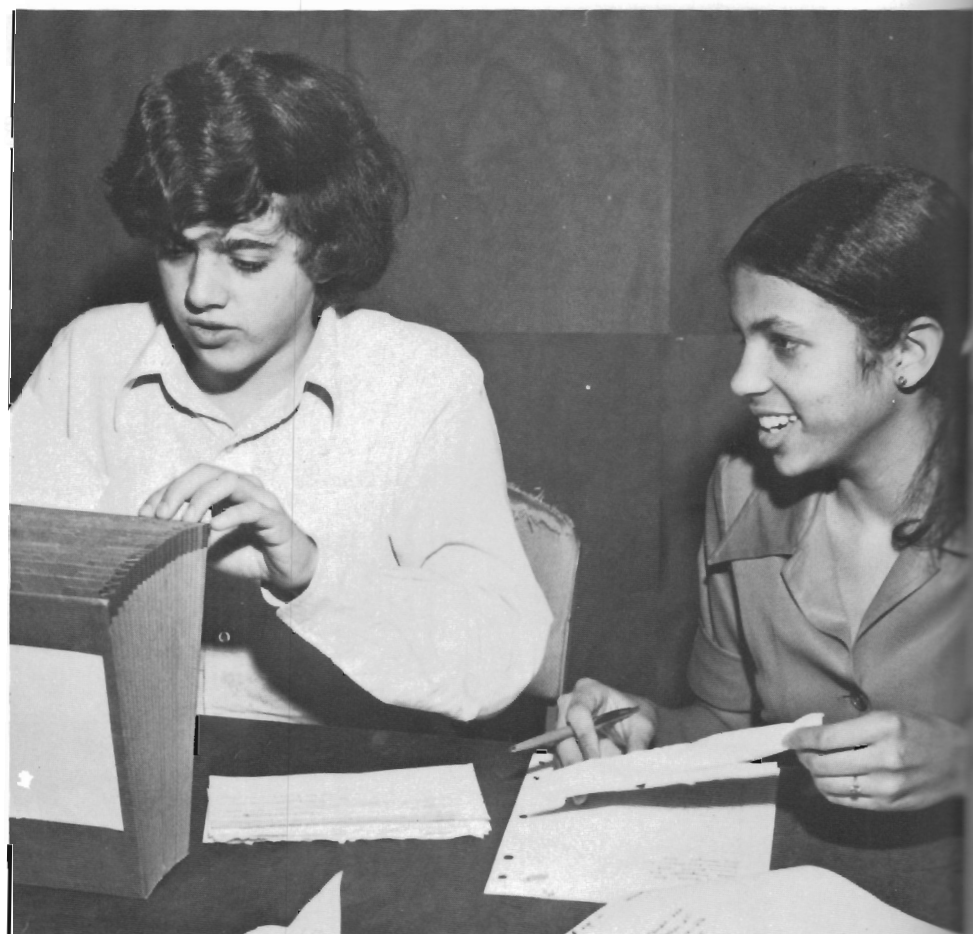

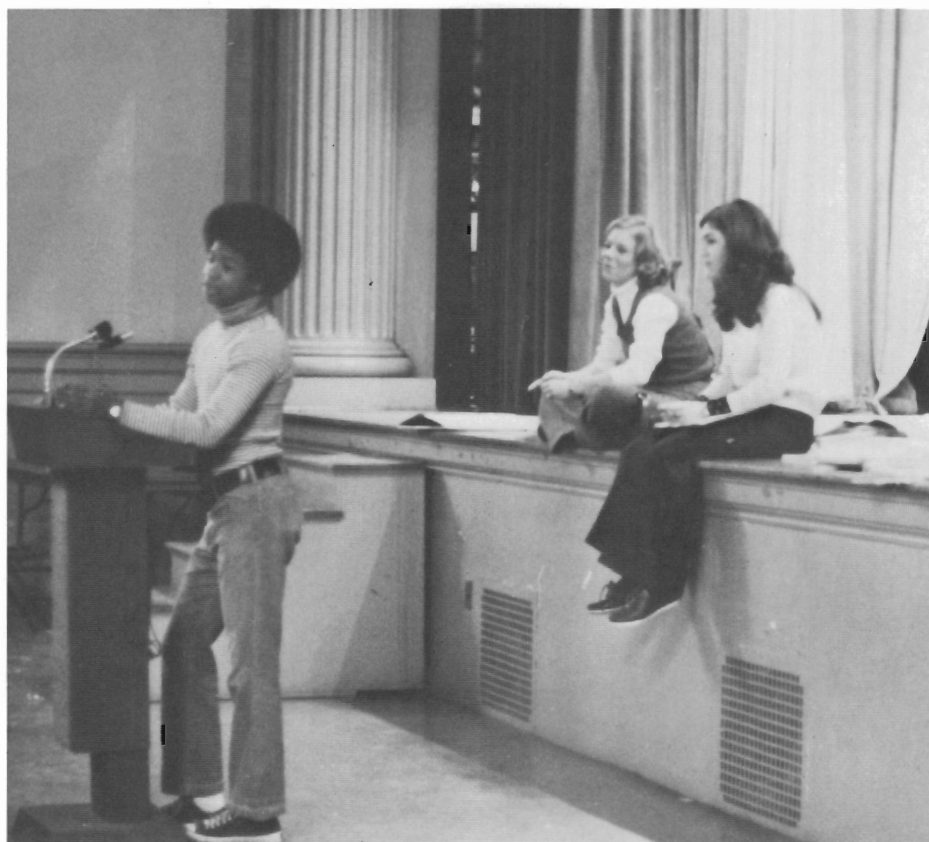

SCA in action

"Would you like to buy some light bulbs?" This is a common question in October as the S.C.A. sells light bulbs to raise money for Lane's last Homecoming Dance.

The Student Council Association has been divided into small committees: the Student Review Board, Projects Committee, Rules and Regulations, and the Student Advisory Committee. According to new legislation, S.C.A. officers and homeroom representatives are now elected on January twenty-second. A new constitution, adopted by the S.C.A. changes the S.C.A. year to a mid-year term beginning February first.

TOP LEFT: Specially called SCA meetings appear to be grim for attending representatives. TOP RIGHT: First semester Secretary-Treasurer, Debbie Doniel discusses SCA business with Robert Doniel. BOTTOM LEFT: Speaking up, Annemarie Goldstein offers her opinion. BOTTOM RIGHT: The second semester officers: President, Bernard Whitsett; Vice-President, Delanie Watson; and Secretary-Treasurer, Sherry Hammer await the vote of gathered SCA members. OPPOSITE

Second successful year

Headed by Frank Conley, elected for his second consecutive year, the Student School Board meets every several weeks to aid the Charlottesville School Board by representing the students' opinion on pertinent issues. This bridge, spanning classroom and administrative offices, discusses and realistically handles problems between students and administrators.

TOP: Chairman Frank Conley discusses an issue with Corey Phillips. ABOVE: Representing Lane, (left-right) Ann Marie Goldstein, Julia Turner, Frank Conley, Corey Phillips, Sherry Hammer, and Tony Brooks read proposals at one of several S.S.B. meetings. RIGHT: Nutty Butty in hand, Senior representative Julia Turner pays no attention to her fellow students.

Chorus and Glee Club merge

New music and style contributes to the success of two organizations, the Chorus and the Glee Club. The Chorus meets everyday in room 410 practicing for concerts, while the Glee Club, composed mostly of members of the Chorus is also active this year.

Success once again

Continuing its excellent yearly form, the concert band wins top ranking with maestro Sharon Hoose. Several enjoyable concerts are presented to and enjoyed by the public. With the magic combination of practice and talent, the 1973-74 concert band is a tribute to both Mr. Hoose and to Lane.

Jazz ensemble swings

Dixieland and Swing rhythms absorb the extra-curricular hours of members of the Lane Jazz Ensemble. Expanding its activities as well as its repertoire, the band is improving in its second year. Performing at parties, concerts, and U.Va. athletic events, the group is widely known for its excellence.

Marching band paces on

This edition of the marching band has attempted to reach perfection. Many cold mornings of practice before school help the band master it's marching techniques. The band entertains at halftime at the Lane home games, as well as at Scott Stadium during the Lane-Albemarle game, and in the Homecoming parade down Main Street. Under the excellent direction of Mr. Vincent Tornello, the band has improved and varied its marching program.

TOP LEFT: Drum major Thomas Dickerson directs the band at the Lane-Albemarle football game. TOP RIGHT: Trumpeter David Sadler keeps his eyes on the music. ABOVE: The Lanettes Flag Squad performs at halftime. LEFT: Baton twirler Tricia Milby and the Lanettes step to the music. OPPOSITE PAGE, TOP: Lane's drum major, Thomas Dickerson strides. CENTER: The marching band paces its way in the Homecoming Parade. BOTTOM LEFT: J.V. Cheerleaders Sally Trudgeon and Karen Bingler carry the band's banner. BOTTOM RIGHT: The tuba section plays at a pep rally.

Hoping to provide an inspiration

At football as well as basketball games, they are always there. They are elated at victory and disappointed at defeat; however, they are always hoping to provide an inspiration. Signs, Albemarle dummies, candy, bobby sox and saddle shoes are all part of their image. Practicing after school, new cheers and old cheers peaking at Albemarle games, the cheerleaders produce the winning spirit needed at Lane.

Contrary to the usual apathy present in Junior-Varsity activities, the J.V. cheerleaders are eight bundles of sophomore energy. This position can give them the boost that the transition from junior high to high school requires. Eager to encourage spirit at Lane, they wear their uniforms and enjoy the distinction of this standing.

Club revives school spirit

The 1973-74 Pep Club, though smaller than usual, is packed with school spirit. Included in its many activities are sign painting and the making of paper fans. Trying to promote school spirit at Lane is a difficult task, but the Pep Club members meet and overcome any obstacles which might hinder school spirit.

Gummi Bears, Piñatas, Dinner Parties

When the French Club is not eating, it is playing cards, having parties, and going to the country for final exams. Admonished to speak only French, many members rely on franglais, facial expressions, and mannerisms to convey a message.

A relatively new club, the German Club has sunk its roots in Gummi Bear Country. A German Club member is synonymous with German candy. Gummi Bears have not only provided an aid for hungry students but also another mode of recreation.

Plans for a trip to Spain in the spring are formulated, and pinatas are smashed by members of the Spanish club. Whether Spanish, German, or French oriented, these clubs can provide a basis for further study in that particular language.

TOP: Fascinating French literature attracts the interest of Dona Riddick, Sheller Campbell and Sue Deaver. MIDDLE: French Club President, Tracy Brownfield fills Hayden Saunier's cup as Bob Holland and Faith Paulette look on. BOTTOM: Engaged in French conversation are Tot Wood, Carol Snook, and Sandra Blackwell.

Key Club is active

Charlottesville benefits from the services provided by the Key Club. These projects include selling Christmas trees, and taking patients from the Rehabilitation Center to the Terrace Bowl. Working closely with the local Kiwanis, Lane's club is composed of about thirty members, sponsored by Coach Garwin DeBerry, and guided by its President, Peter McLean.

TOP LEFT: President Lori Trudgeon, Vice-president Jane Turner, Secretary Marrie Smith, and Treasurer Cindy Terrell discuss plans for the next meeting. TOP RIGHT: While waiting for the meeting to begin Martha Morris, Liz Huegel, and Cindy Burke amuse themselves. LOWER LEFT: Studying for an upcoming

Humanitarians try to help

The Science Club has become one of the most active of Lane's organizations. Large attendance has given the club a great potential and many ideas spring forth from its members. Among these ideas are the participation in the Homecoming parade, several captivating guest speakers, and a field trip to the University of Virginia Laboratory.

Canned food drives, a UNICEF collection, and the big-little sister program are charitable efforts endorsed by the Girl's Service Club. Reinstated after several dormant years, the club involves interested young women who desire to serve their school and community through group participation.

Show biz

Under the leadership of William Buxton, the Players Club has a very successful two night run of Brigadoon. In February they participate in the State One Act Play Festival. The Players Club presents a night of one act plays for the public in late January. One of these is used for the festival. A large spring production is presented in late spring.

Career preparation at school

Professional career education is offered to students at Lane in the D.E. (Distributive Education) and V.I.C.A. (Virginia Industrial Cooperative Association) courses, which are taught by Mr. C. F. Stone and Mr. Willard Robinson, respectively. The students participating in the programs learn the principles of buying, selling, advertising, and, in general, the techniques of modern business.

Office skills appreciated

Volunteering to work during their free periods, many students report to the main office, the library, and the guidance office. Secretaries, faculty, and administrators benefit from the services of these aids, who simultaneously gain new skills and office experience, and assist in the functioning of Lane High School.

Checkmate

Two players bend over a chessboard and one is lost in concentration. Silence pervades the library. The Chess Team is preparing for competition. A small, but dedicated group of students meet for intra-club and inter-school competition that offers challenges to these would-be Bobbie Fisher's.

Compiling memories

The unbroken CHAIN continues as its fifty-sixth link is completed. Staff members, for the first time receiving academic credit for yearbook production, overcome probable hurdles of time, pictures, and design, to present the final Lane album. Working with the theme, "Lane, a memory," the editors strive to publish a treasury of life at Lane High School.

TOP LEFT: Yearbook editor, Wayne Almond, explains a detail about collection of money. TOP RIGHT: In need of help, Mary Gianakos is assisted by Martha Morris. Bumblebee creates Homework Chits not only aid desperate students, but also support Lane's literary magazine, the BUMBLEBEE. Photographs, art work, poetry and short stories are coordinated by Editor Joe Mann and his staff who sift through submitted efforts to find the most worthy copy.

New staff betters Lanetime

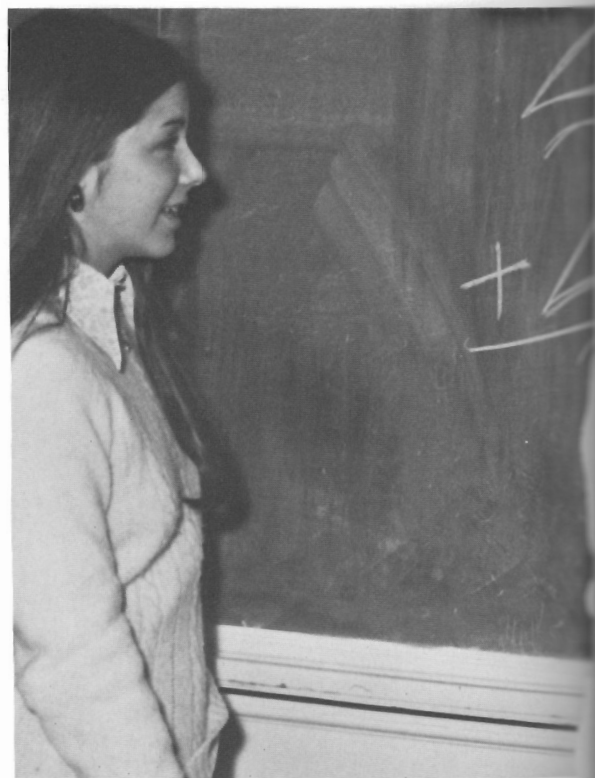

Inspired by Mrs. White and Gordon Berne, the LANETIME has modernized many news articles and features. This year's cartooning by Lisa Vines and catchy captions have been main attractions. Updated editorials, polls, and regular feature articles mean a more relevant, humorous approach to LHS by the Lane media.

Seniors reap honors

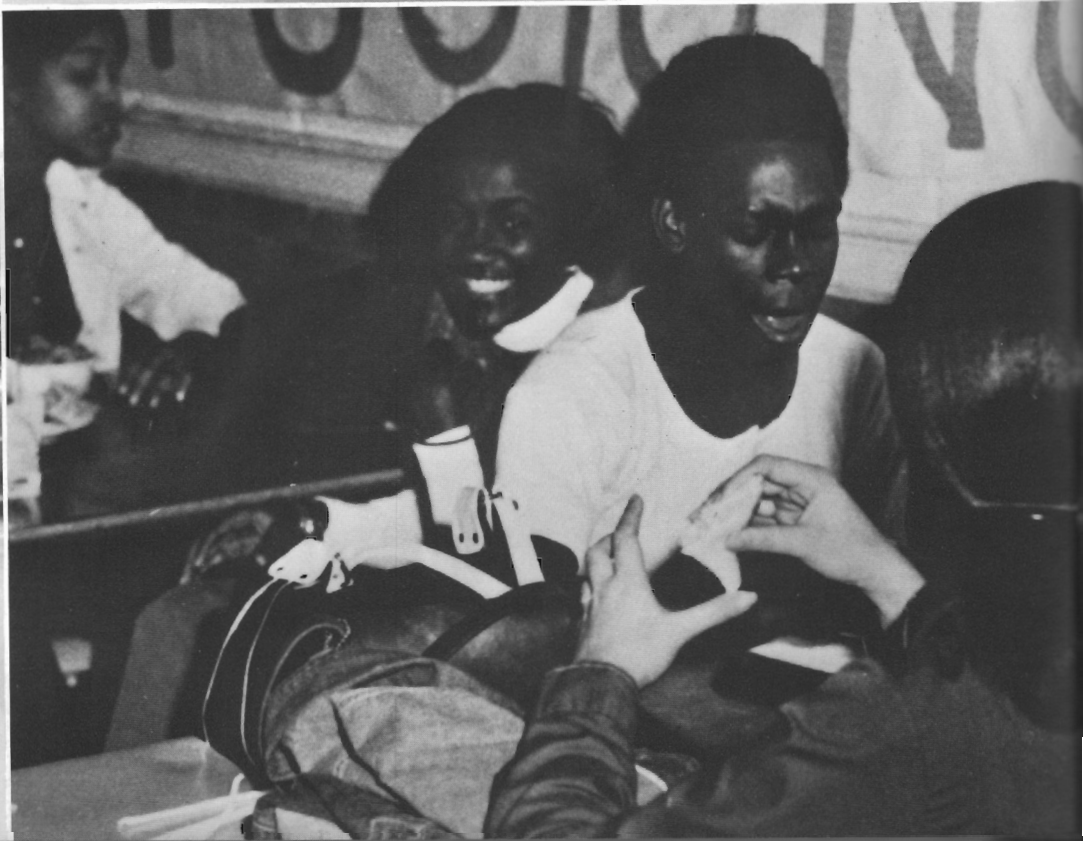

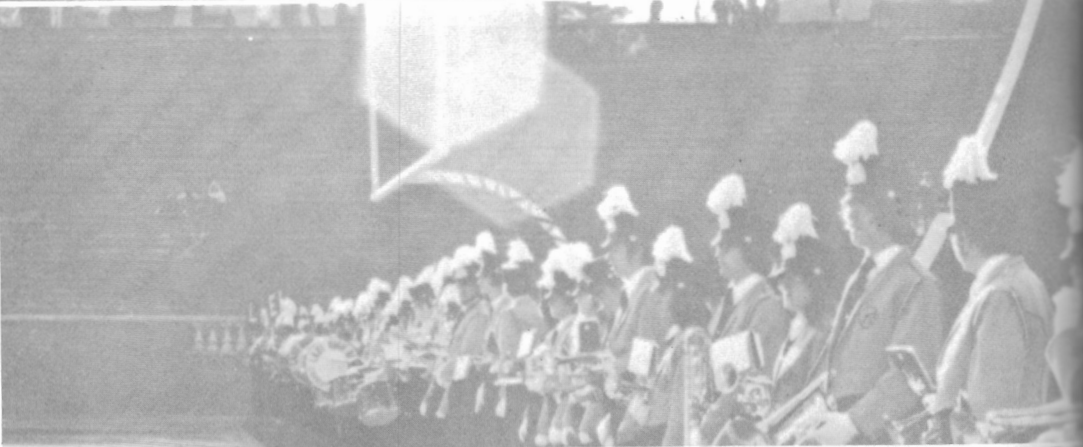

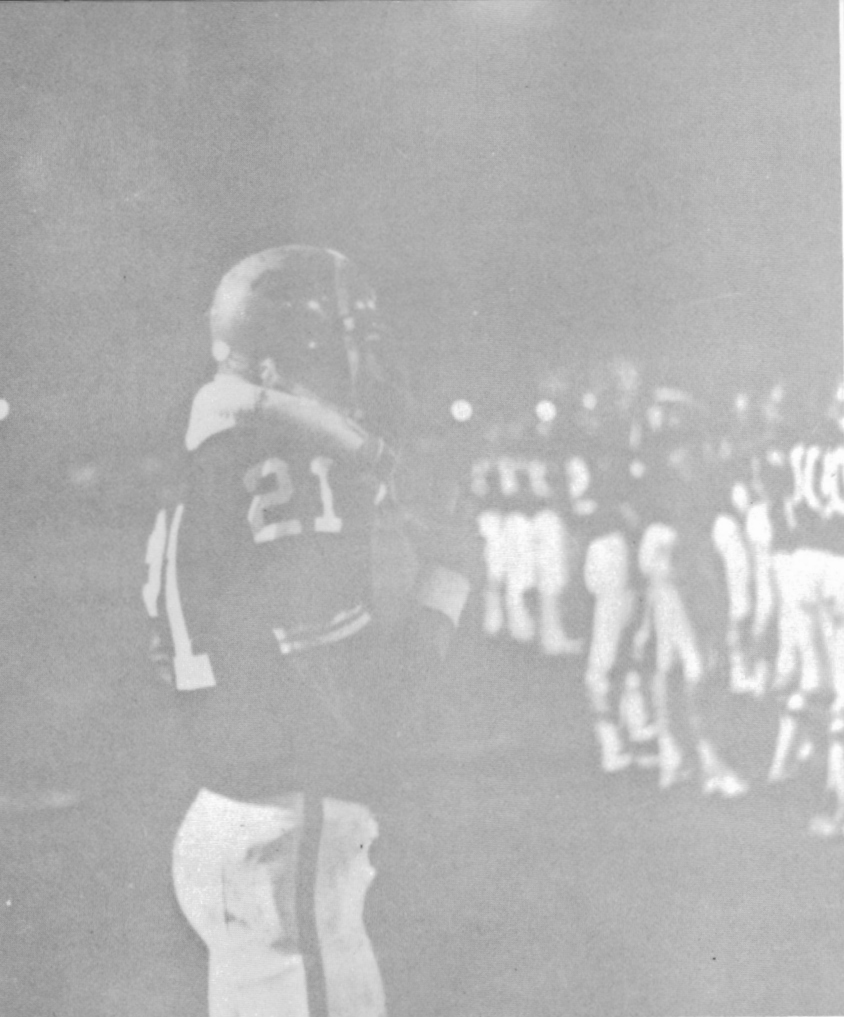

For six Lane Seniors, years of education are rewarded by high achievement in National Merit Scholarship competition. While four girls Laneites, Matthew Konigsberg and Karl Niedershuh, earn the title of National Merit Scholar. These rankings are the highest scholastic honors in national high school competition.

Ringing bells, crowded halls
 Slamming lockers, feet stomping on the stairs, and in the hall
 Constant chatter, weekend gossip,
 new rumors
 Uncanny silence, tests, serious thoughts
 Morning train, a break till the noise passes
 Whistles, yells down the halls, and cheers
 Final bell, running down steps honking
 horns
 Day's end.

Wasting time

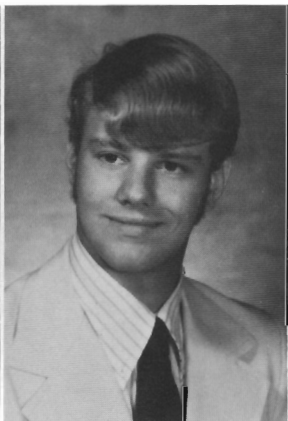

Boredom
Yelling out windows
Carving on desks
An illegal stroll through the halls
Gummy Bears lined up on the ceilings
Taking a break on the side steps
Sliding down banisters
Goofing off.

"The three years I have spent at Lane have been very special to me. People may complain about Lane, but I feel sorry for the kids who won't experience it. They won't have the great memories of rushed but entertaining lunches, leaning out the window to yell at a friend on another floor, homecomings and proms in the gym, snowball fights on the front lawn, walking downtown to a movie, and all the things that are part of being a Senior at Lane."

FACULTY

Headmen make decisions

From the unimpressive brick building on Dairy Road, the Charlottesville Public School System gains organization. Headed by a new superintendent, Dr. William Ellena, this staff formulates the backbone of Charlottesville's complex educational program. Through precision interaction of central administration and school board, the laborious task of maintaining eleven public schools, encompassing 6,695 students, appears to be effortless.

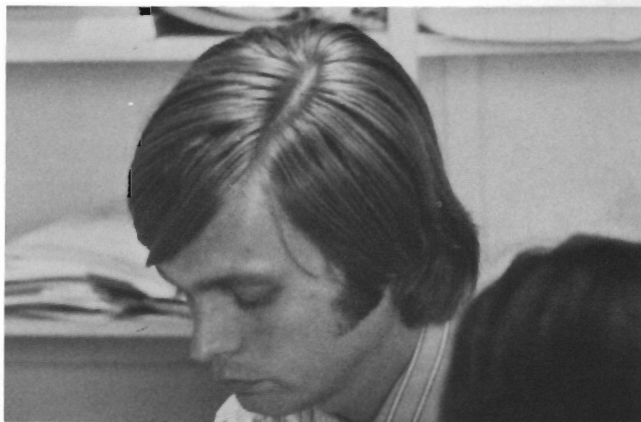

ABOVE FRONT: Mrs. Elizabeth Bowers; Mr. Harry Tinney; Rev. Henry Mitchell (chairman); Mr. Jay Kessler. BACK: Mr. Charles Webb; Dr. Richard Jennings. ABSENT: Mrs. Grace Tinsley. RIGHT: Dr. William Ellena.

Administration

This year Mr. Huegel's responsibilities doubled. He is still, technically, principal of Lane High School, but he is also involved in a joint project with the Charlottesville School Board and the University of Virginia. Mr. Huegel, Mr. Wright, and a select group of representatives are preparing a program for the new high school. Mr. Freddie Murray is acting principal for the 1973-1974 school year.

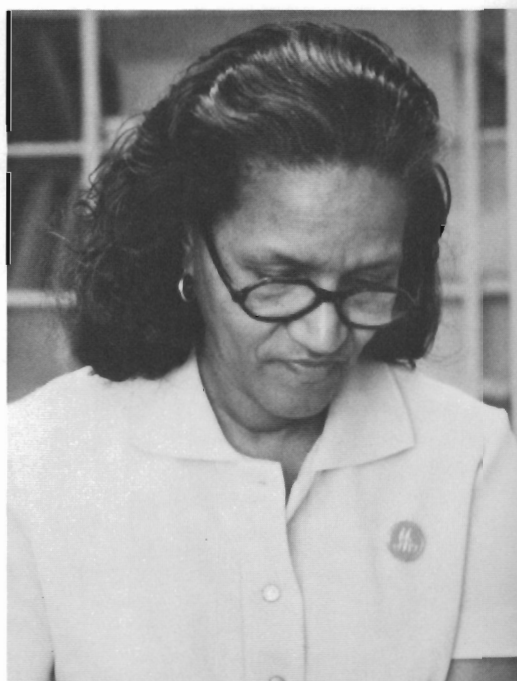

TOP LEFT: Mr. Freddie Murray; TOP RIGHT: Mr. John Wright; MIDDLE LEFT: Mr. John Huegel; MIDDLE RIGHT: Mr. Willie Barnett; LEFT: Mr. Harley Miles.

Guidance

Administrative and counseling responsibilities comprise the duties of the Guidance Department counselors. Within the confines of four counselors' offices are the busy personnel who handle schedule changes, scholastic tests, class ranks, college applications and registrations, and semi-annual student interviews. For the first time during this academic year, these staff members are also arranging visits to classrooms so that they may become more familiar with teachers and students.

TOP LEFT: Mrs. Marlene Carpenter; TOP RIGHT: Mrs. Pauline Garrett; MIDDLE LEFT: Mrs. Lillian Garrett; MIDDLE RIGHT: Mrs. Josephine Whitsett; BOTTOM LEFT: Mr. Earl Quinn; BOTTOM RIGHT: Mrs. Donna Reeves.

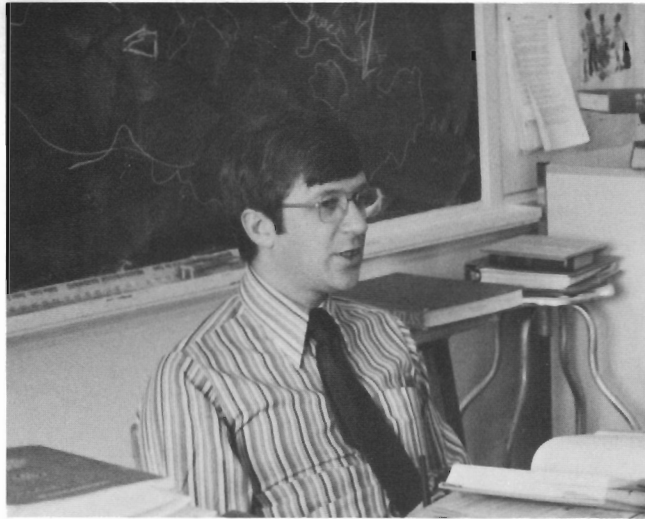

Invaluable Aides

The orange office counter protects the Lane High School secretaries from the hordes of teachers and students who daily seek help and information. These ladies work at the center of Lane's office complex and serve the administration as well as the entire population. From typing suspension letters to answering the ever-ringing telephone, their days are consumed in a variety of vital tasks that keep the school moving smoothly.

TOP LEFT: Mrs. Anita Williams; TOP RIGHT: Mrs. Roberta Brodie; MIDDLE LEFT: Mrs. Mary Cline; MIDDLE RIGHT: Mrs. Adele Matacia; BOTTOM: Mrs. Katherine Tucker.

English Changes

This year the sophomore class at Lane High School has been offered a new program in its English classes. A rotation system allows the students to choose four of five elective courses for second semester. English teachers hope that folklore, novel, short story, poetry and drama will bring excitement to the sophomore English curriculum.

Options offered

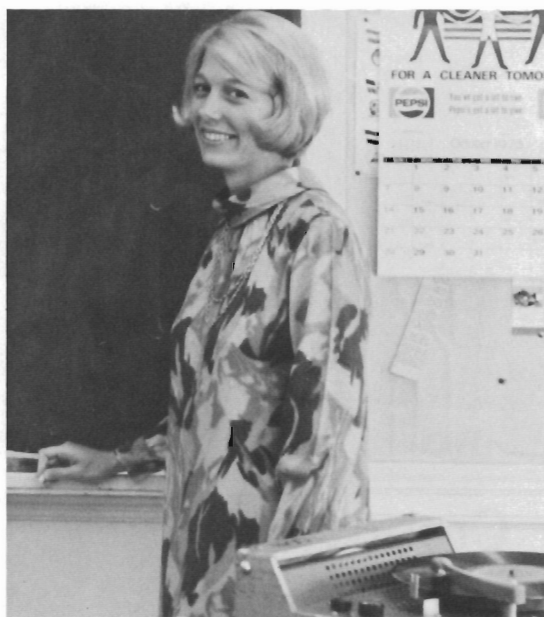

Spirit and Myth and World Literature are the new courses in the English curriculum. Teachers have developed these options as alternatives to the required English literature class. By broadening the course choices, it is hoped that the interest of students will be met.

TOP: Mrs. Mary White; MIDDLE LEFT: Miss Mary J. Moore; MIDDLE RIGHT: Mrs. Mary Ann Stripling; BOTTOM LEFT: Miss Joyce Garber; BOTTOM RIGHT: Mrs. Elizabeth Porter.

New approaches to languages

A foreign language is more than grammar and vocabulary. It is also acquiring an appreciation of the culture peculiar to the lands where the language is spoken. In an effort to enhance the French curriculum, Black Literature of French Expression has been included. Similarly, the study of Latin American Literature has been added as the fifth year Spanish course.

Creativity

The expression of talent is evident in Lane's art and music department. Long hours of practice result in musical concerts while equally long hours produce an exciting art show. A new adventure in coordination between these two departments shows in the fall production of BRIGADOON.

Home Ec. paves the way for bachelors

The traditional role of the Home Economics department has been to prepare future homemakers. Male, as well as female students benefit from Home Economics instruction at Lane. While the girls struggle over the tailoring of a suit, their male counterparts are busily preparing a tuna fish casserole. Bachelor living is not all play and no work, but who said work couldn't be fun?

RIGHT: Mr. William Formwalt; BOTTOM: Ms.
Elizabeth Fleming.

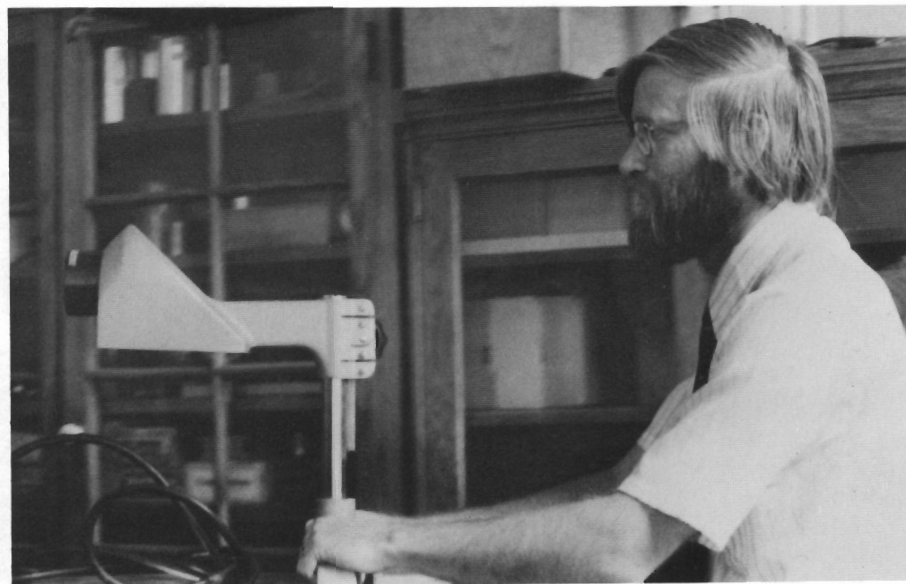

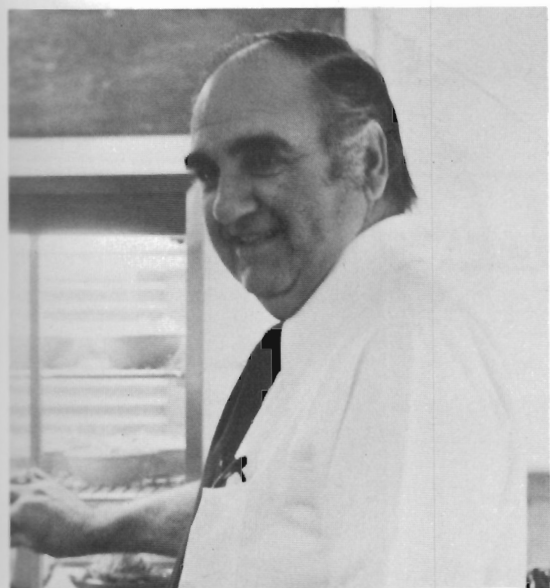

Numerical endeavors

The south wing of Lane drones with the sound of mathematical theory and terminology. Current math department offerings range from consumer math to calculus. Although instructors are aiming at individual instruction, they face the age old struggle with students who find this academic discipline the most difficult of their secondary education.

TOP: Miss Alice Elam; MIDDLE LEFT: Mr. Dan Wheeler; MIDDLE RIGHT: Mr. Clyde Pool; BOTTOM LEFT: Mr. Michael Coffey; BOTTOM RIGHT: Mr. Gerald Mayer.

New classes succeed

Oriental food, Chinese painting, and Haiku poetry are employed to develop student appreciation of Asian cultures. These activities comprise only a part of the new Asian Studies course, taught by Ms. Barbara Peeks.

Contemporary Family Living, another new Social Studies offering, allows students the chance to grow in understanding of themselves and others. Taught by Mrs. Betty Pittman and Mr. Gary Hartley of Charlottesville Family Services, this curriculum utilizes individual and group instruction.

These two new courses provide for community interaction in the classroom by including outside speakers and authorities. Favorable student reaction to Asian Studies and Contemporary Family Living indicates positive feeling for the new courses and their content.

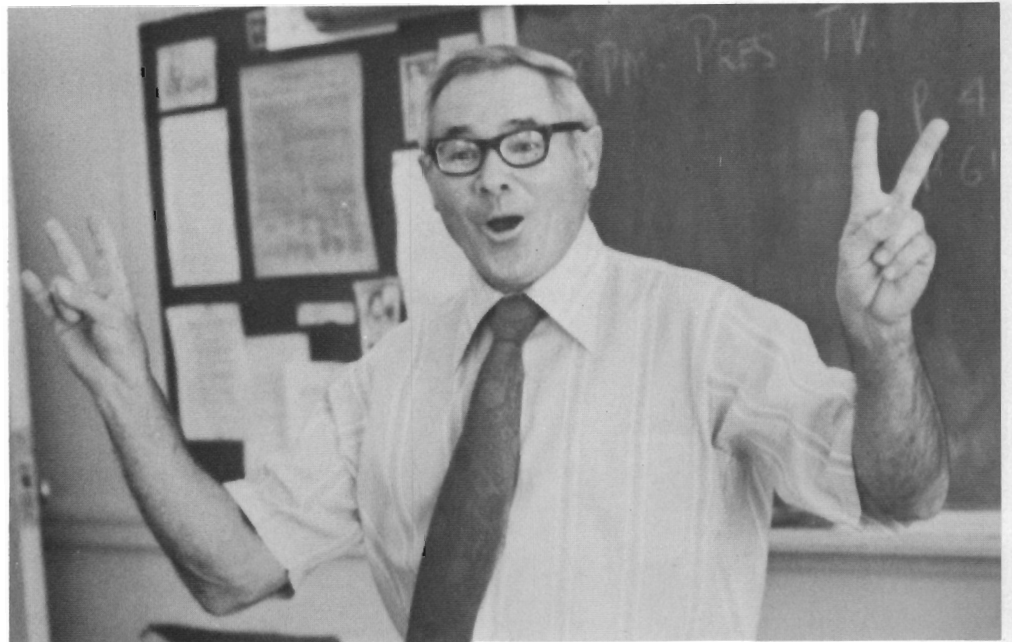

TOP LEFT: Miss Elna Spradlin; TOP RIGHT:
Ms. Barbara Peeks; MIDDLE: Ms. Diane Price,
BOTTOM: Mr. Roger Smith.

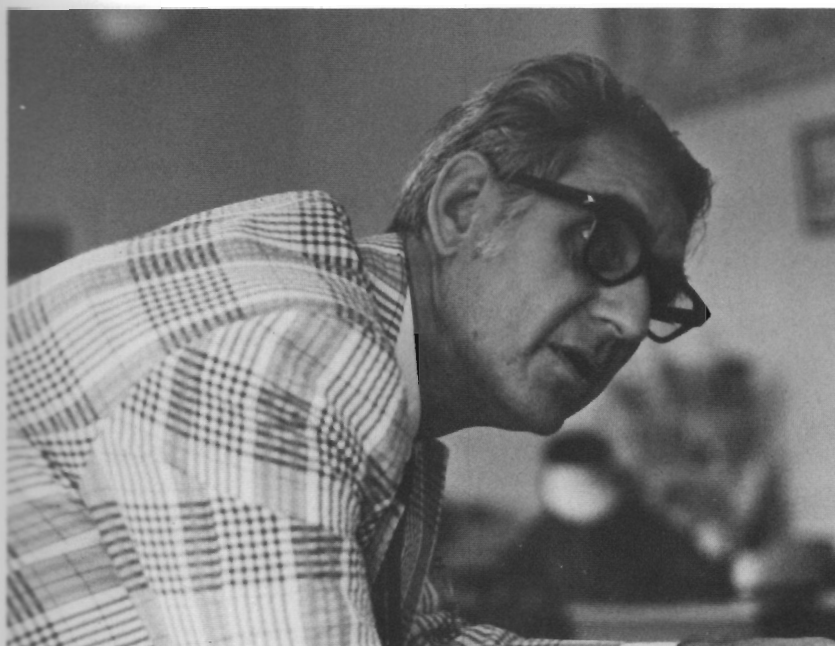

TOP RIGHT: Mr. Clayton Savage; MIDDLE:
Mr. Jules Crafaik; BOTTOM RIGHT: Mrs. Lena

Sociologists conduct survey

A representative sample of eighth through twelfth grade classes were administered a survey compiled by Mr. Roger Smith's sociology class. The survey provided students with the opportunity to express their views concerning the planning and operation of the new high school. Other activities concerning the students will be explored in a thirty-five millimeter slide presentation planned by the class.

Encountering Science

Frogs, swamps, and Ivory detergent all find their way into the curriculum of Lane's science department. From the first dissection of a slimy frog to the ecology romp through the swamp in Florida to the dishwashing tasks encountered after labs, the daily adventures in science classes are always unexpected and interesting.

Job opportunities available

Enterprising students who desire instruction in the fields of business, distribution, and industry are able to study and work through programs offered at Lane. Individual attention is given to needs and job opportunities. Teacher supervisors assist in the development of student potential.

TOP LEFT: Mrs. Juanita Milby; TOP RIGHT: Mrs. Peggy Howdyshell; MIDDLE LEFT: Mrs. Irene Vecchione; MIDDLE RIGHT: Mrs. Lorraine Williams; BOTTOM: Mrs. Evelyn Deane.

Split personalities?

The double life of one division of our staff includes Physical Education and Driver's Education classes. School days for these teachers consist of the instantaneous shift from rowdy gym students to nervous and inexperienced potential drivers. Long hours of coaching after school conclude the activities of this versatile department.

TOP: Mrs. Barbara Norcross; MIDDLE: Mrs. Alma Pleasants; BOTTOM LEFT: Mr. Garvin DeBerry; BOTTOM RIGHT: Miss Emma McDaniel.

Library meets demands

Lane's library would be of little use to us if not for the efficient library staff. Their work includes purchasing new books, assisting students and teachers with projects and reading materials, supplying A-V and filmstrip information, and keeping the library up-to-date and orderly. The staff maintains and upholds all the activities and work that the library demands.

RIGHT: Miss Anna Cooke; BOTTOM LEFT: Mrs. Carolyn Graves; BOTTOM RIGHT: Mrs. Doris Frantz.

Lunch is not only leisure

Nearly a dozen energetic ladies provide lunch for Lanes' student population daily. They are faced with long hours and endless sandwiches, salads, pizzas, rolls, and desserts. Such inclusions as hot cocoa increase the desirability of cafeteria offerings.

to the Graduating Class

You have already been told that the world is at your feet and is yours for the effort, that the challenges are great as are the rewards. There is no doubt that is true.

Let us add this. You have just conquered one major hurdle in your life—graduating from school. You did it by taking one day at a time, one week at a time, one test at a time. That's the way life is—one step at a time. And each step builds on the one before it. "Genius is the capacity to take infinite pains." Few of us are geniuses but each of us owes it to himself to do every task to the best of his ability and in his own inimitable way.

Each of us has a contribution to make to society. What yours is and will be is now in the making.

The 1974 CHAIN staff would like to thank Graham Studios, LANETIME and the DAILY PROGRESS for many of the pictures which appear throughout this book. We would also like to thank Lisa Vines for her incredibly great artwork.

TOP LEFT: Catching a few winks, Mrs. Valentine proves that teachers are human, too. TOP RIGHT: Undisturbed by the chatter of a few students, Randy Hook puffs on his cigarette. ABOVE: The rear of the gym is a perfect hide-away for Johnny Snowden. RIGHT: A lone scholar studies beside Lane's front columns. OPPOSITE PAGE, TOP LEFT: Ignoring her teacher, Shann Whited snoozes. TOP RIGHT: A popsicle helps Sammie Lewis relax. BOTTOM LEFT: After finding no helpful library books, Charlotte Johnson gives up her search.

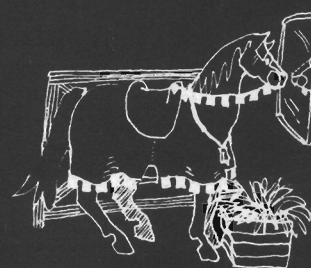

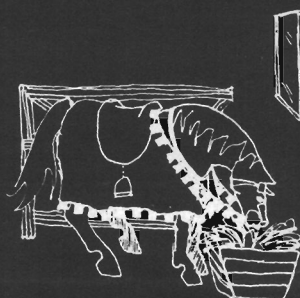

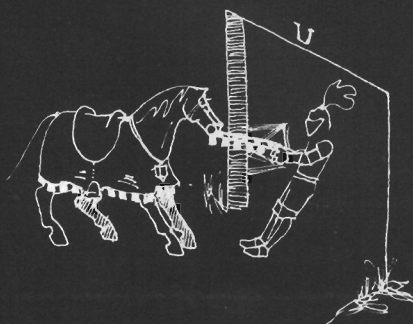

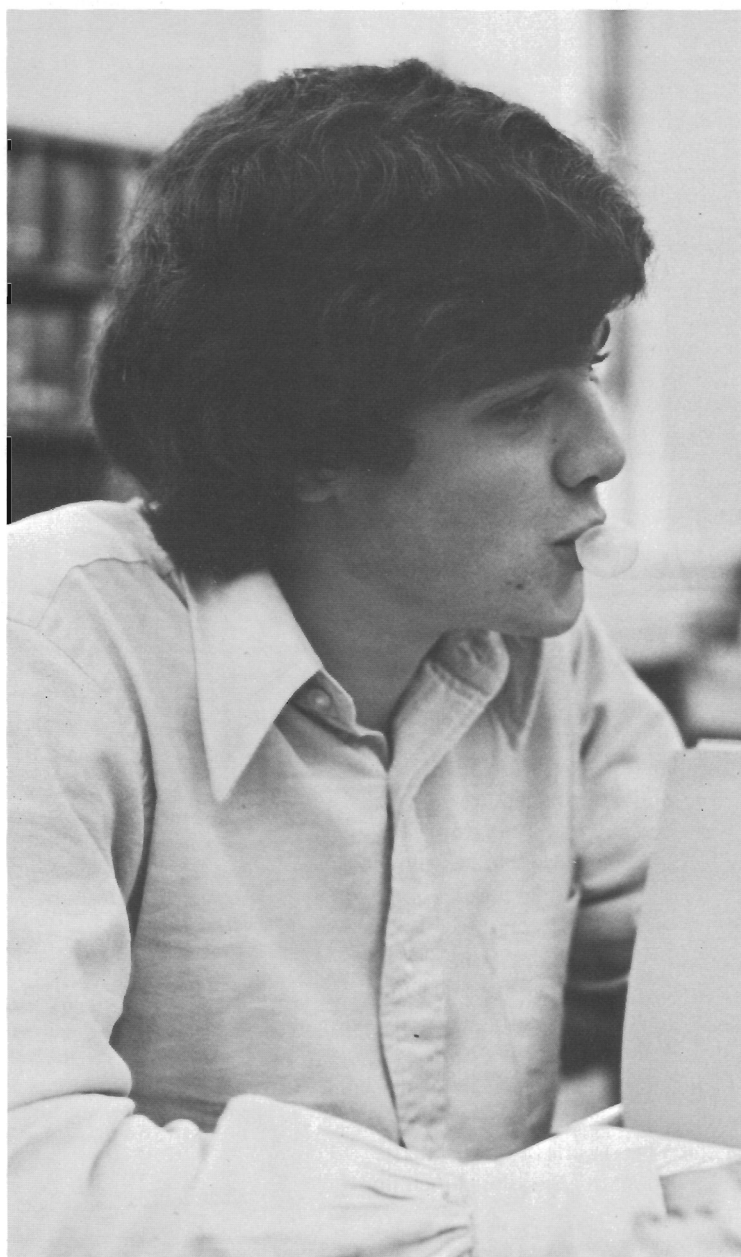

Eyelids at half-mast

A Lane pastime
 That sit down and shut up feeling
 Combined results of a late night out and a boring lecture
 A needed smoking "pit stop"
 A relaxation of the muscles allowing feet to hang in aisles,
 arms to plop on desks
 181 days in a senior slump
 Catching rays under a spring sun
 Dangling out of 3rd floor windows not caring about rock bottom results Leaving your body in class while your mind takes a walk Willingness to starve rather than stand in an endless lunch line
 Lane lazing
 A memory.

RIGHT: The pressures of school cause Ann Washington to withdraw. BELOW: Bubble gum amuses Billy Bolton. BOTTOM RIGHT: Boredom overcomes Karen Suggs during a wasted study hall. OPPOSITE PAGE, TOP: Far-off thoughts fill David Jones' mind. BOTTOM LEFT: Daydreams of her evening plans make Rene Johnson smile. BOTTOM RIGHT: Although displeased by misconduct in the library, Annemarie Goldstein manages a sarcastic laugh.

Haunting moods

A state of mind influencing the way a person feels and acts

Determined by the events of today or the promises of tomorrow

A large variety from which to choose

Depression caused by a rainy Monday morning

The carefree feeling of a Friday afternoon

The welcomed amusement of a substitute teacher

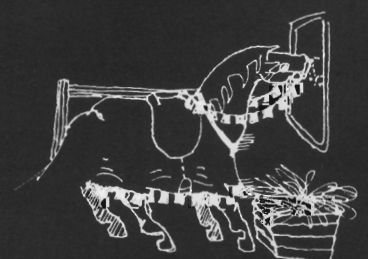

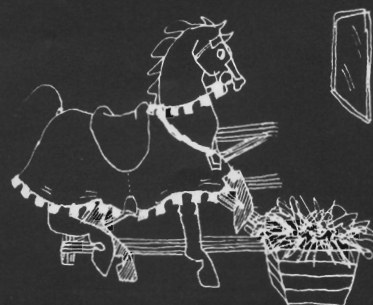

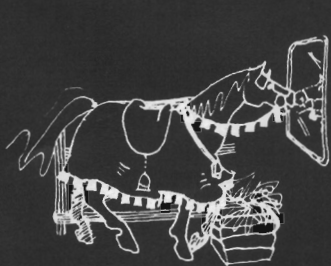

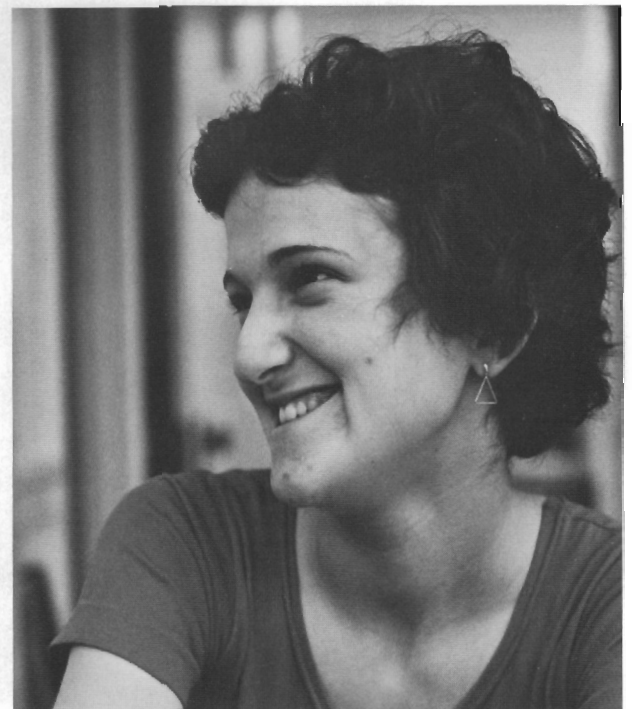

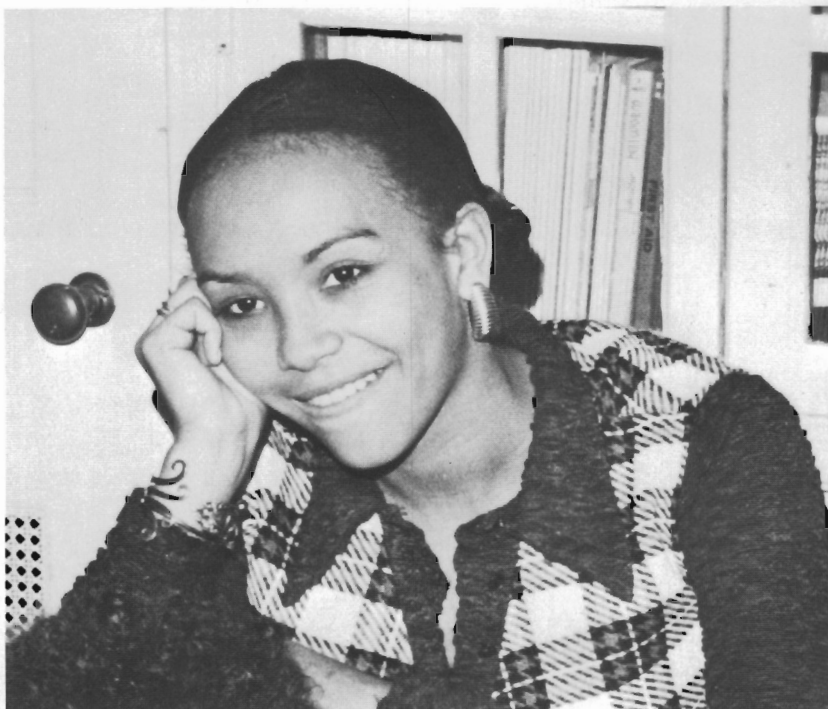

The loneliness of staying in school while all your friends skip

Frustration occurring when four research papers are due on the same date

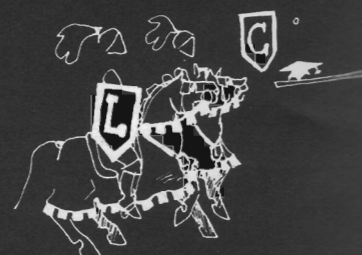

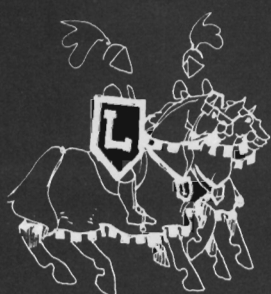

Happiness, yet sadness; mixed emotions felt on the last day of school

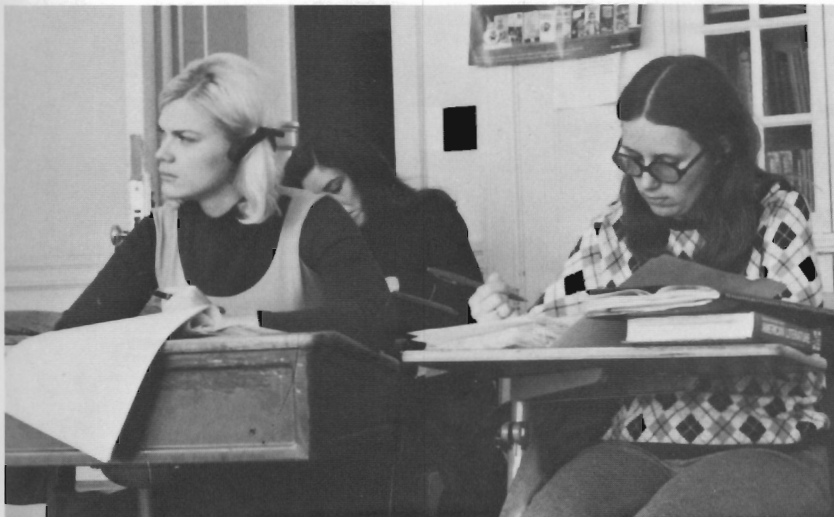

Lane moods

Memories.

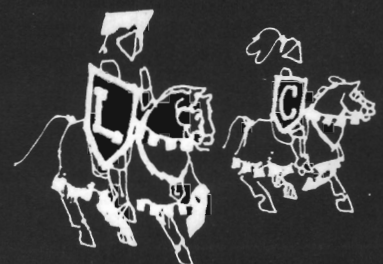

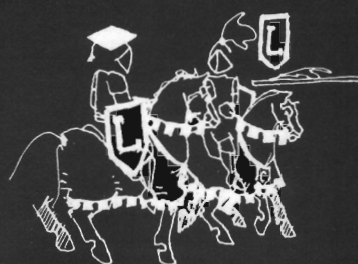

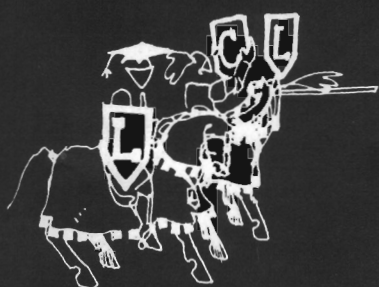

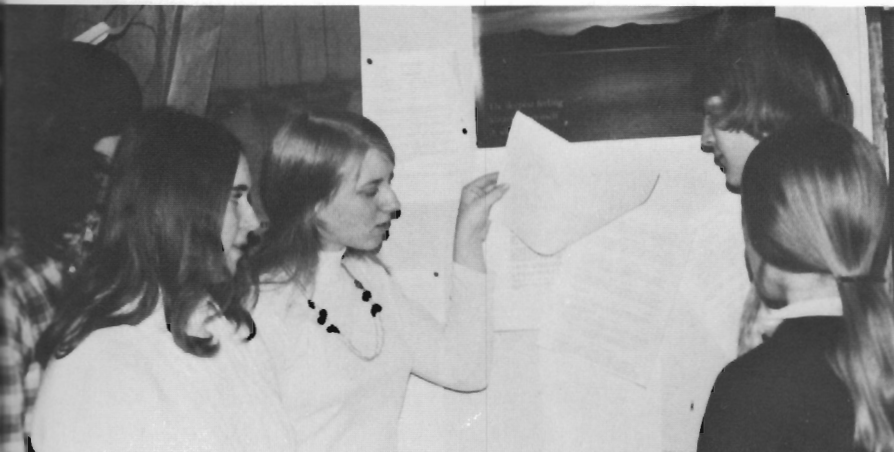

RIGHT: All of Lane's halls are left lifeless. BELOW: Making sure that the graduation cap fits Elsie Jett perfectly, Mrs. Cline tightens the measuring tape. BOTTOM RIGHT: Guidance given by Mrs. Whitsett brightens Ray Severin's future. OPPOSITE PAGE, TOP: In preparation for new school curriculum, Mrs. Porter and Mrs. Bahorsky fill seats left vacant by younger students. MIDDLE: Several juniors review next year's class offerings. BOTTOM: The soon to be used Charlottesville High School is still under construction.

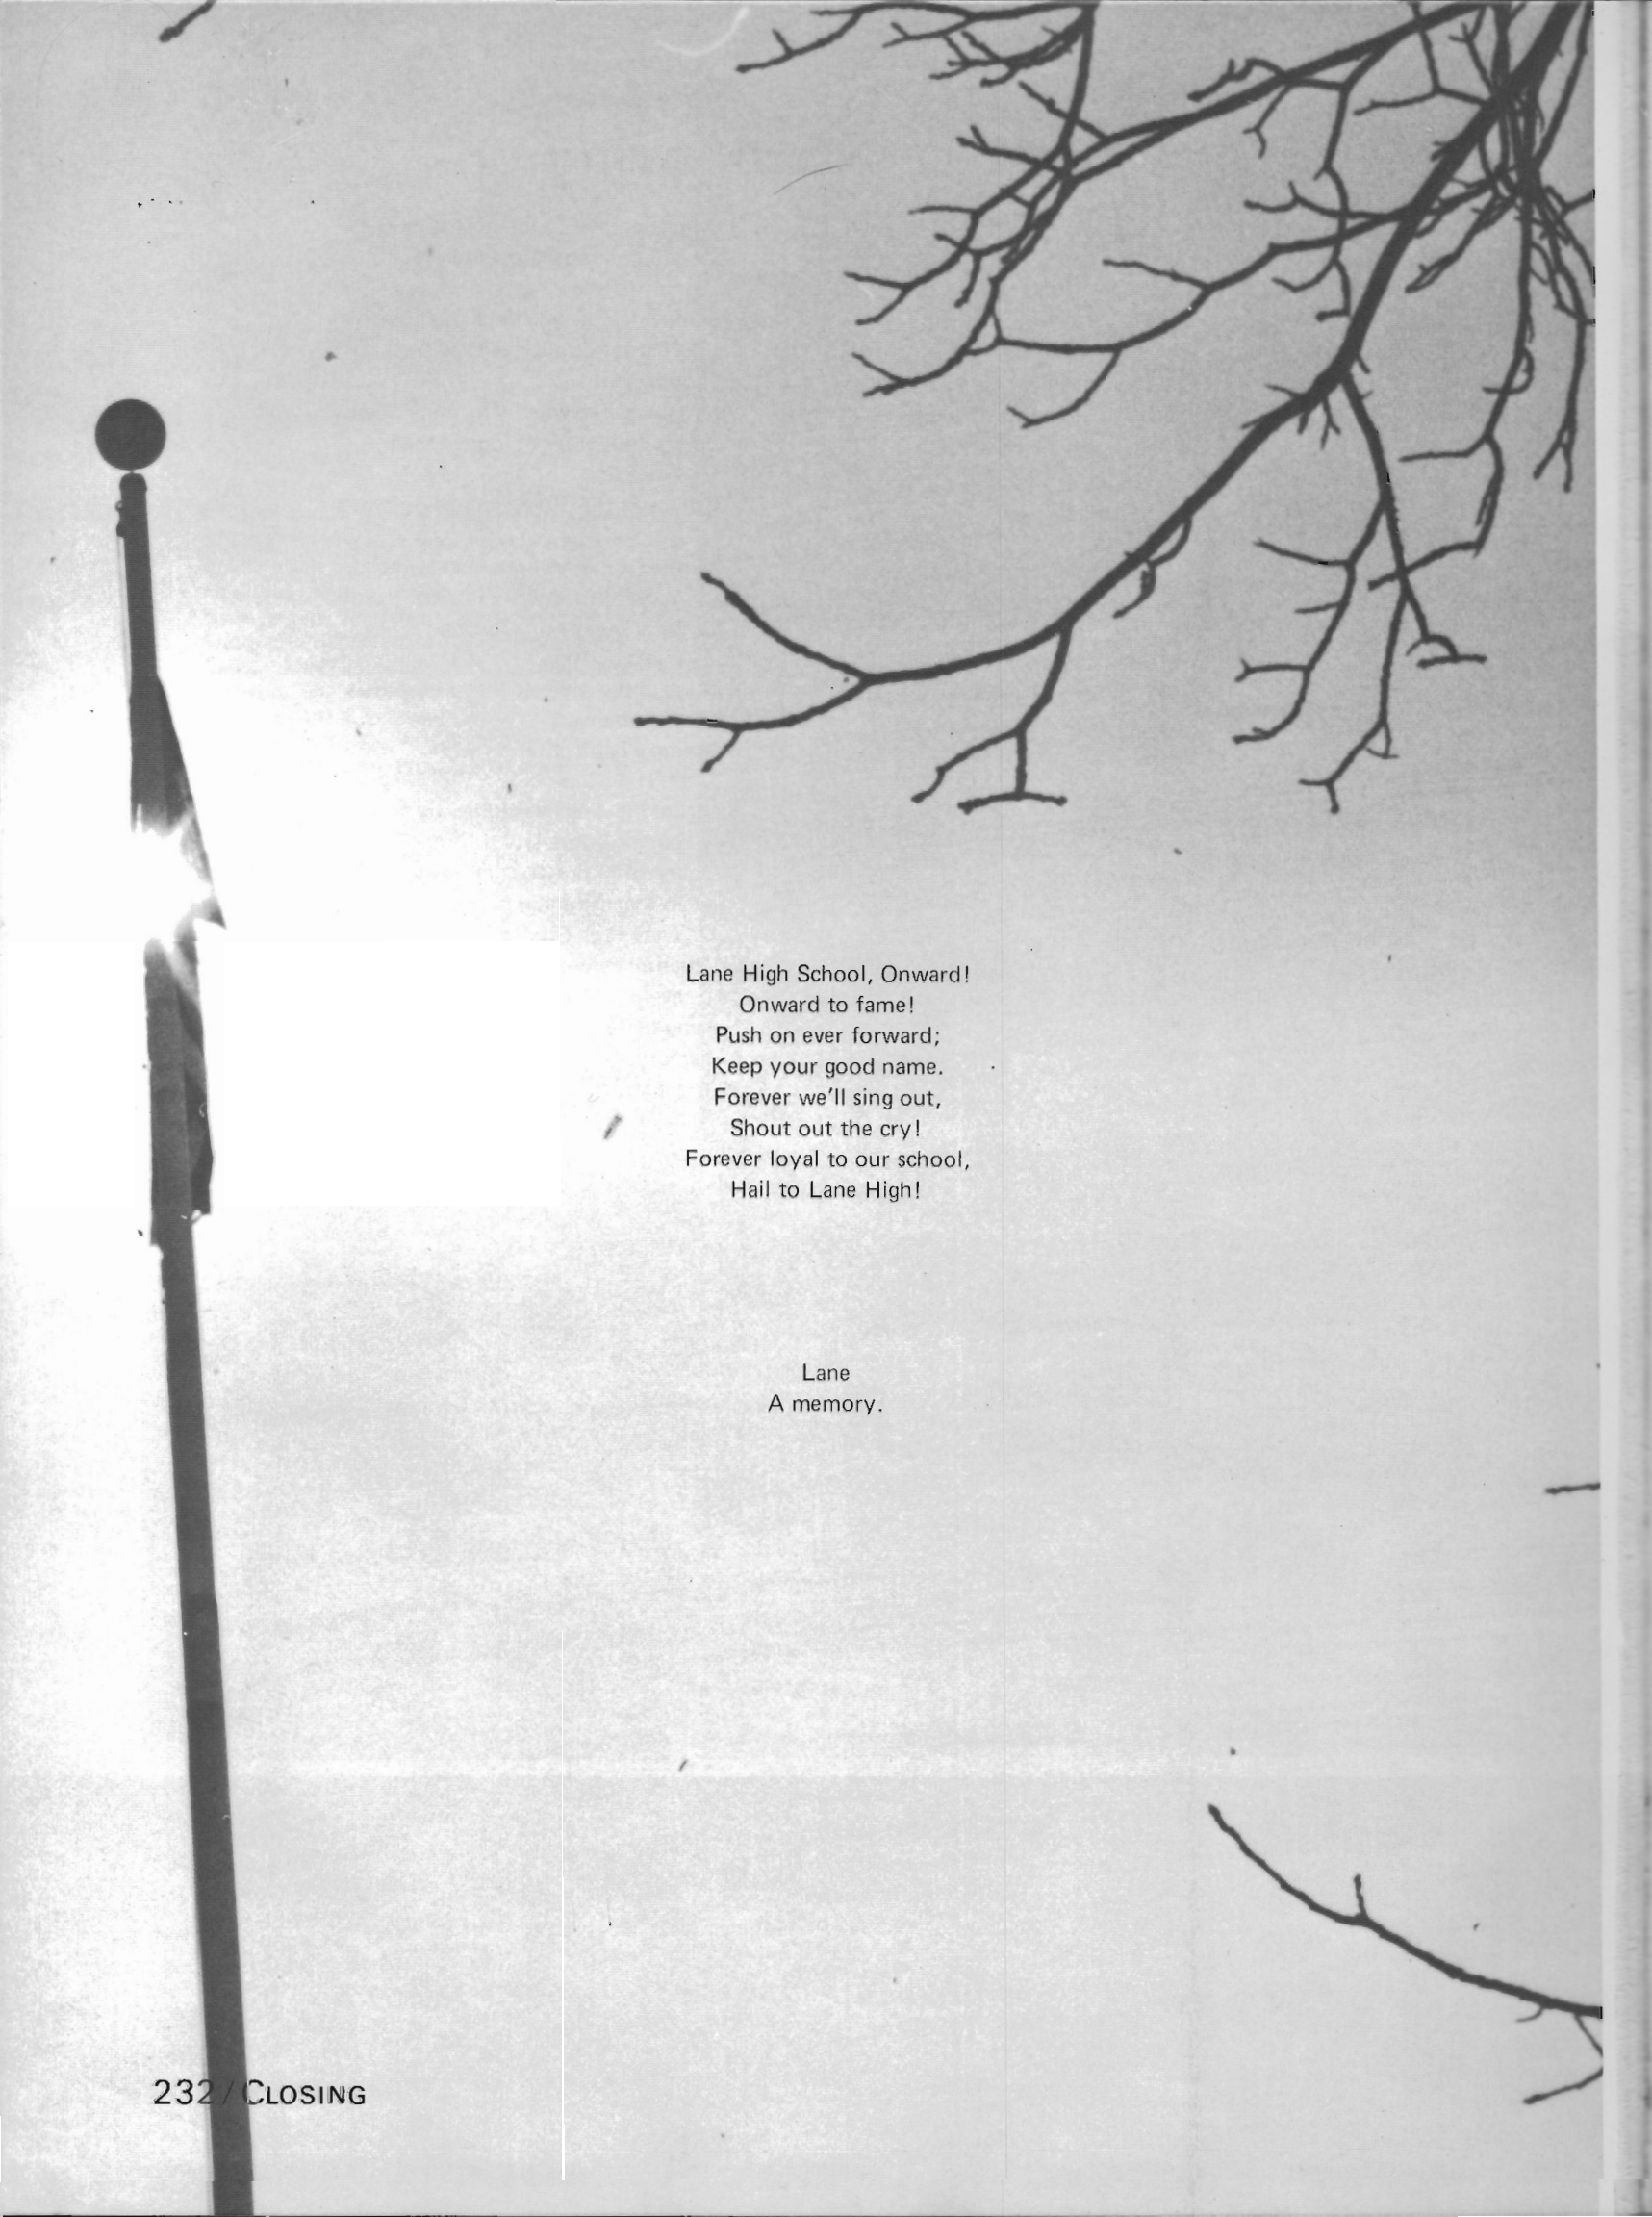

Moving on

Saying good-bye to the majestic white columns and the seldom used front steps
A confusingly large choice of classes
Measuring for disposable caps and gowns
Fright occurring when you think head size might be an indicator of brain size
Teachers on the other end of homework
assignments
Dreams of air conditioning in sweating
September afternoons, interrupted by thoughts of a lasting energy crisis
Leaving as the oldest only to become the youngest
Dreading a confrontation with
9TH graders
A cheated feeling overridden by budding curiosity
A feeling of importance knowing you're in the last graduating class of
Lane High School
Graduation ceremony — the final Lane
event
Leaving Lane
A memory.

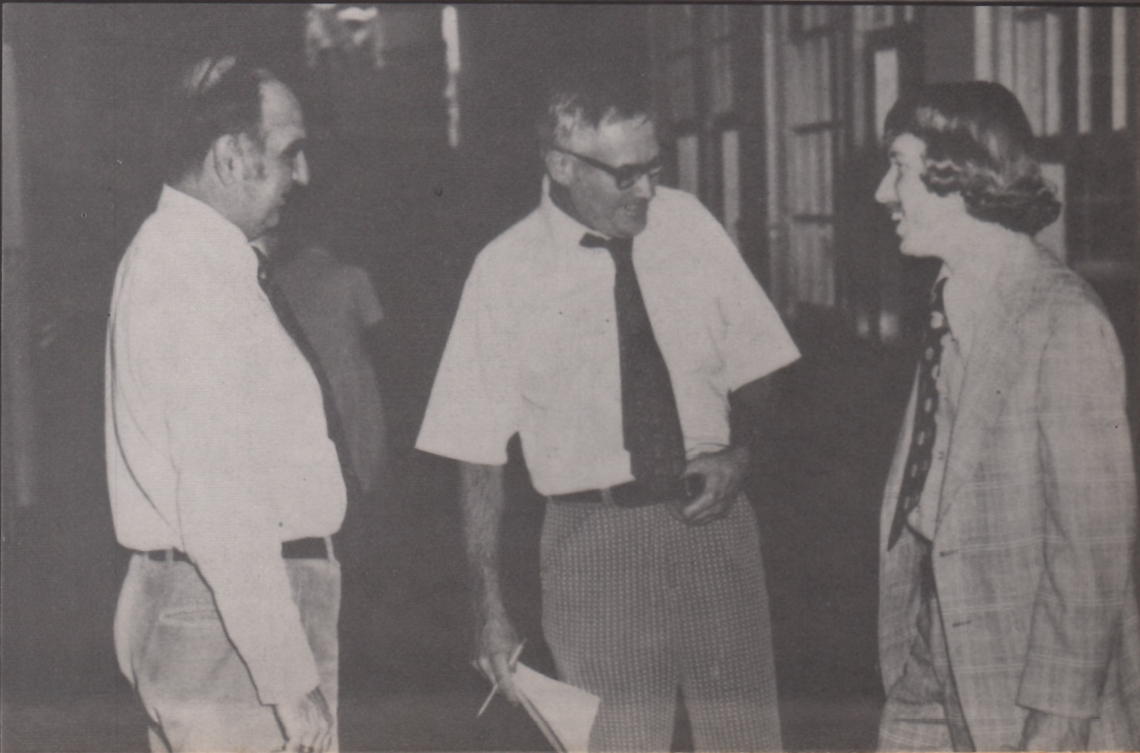

Lane High School, Onward!
Onward to fame!
Push on ever forward;
Keep your good name.
Forever we'll sing out,
Shout out the cry!
Forever loyal to our school,
Hail to Lane High!

Lane
A memory.

Hymns for Baccalaureate

GOD OF OUR FATHERS

Warren

God of our fathers, whose almighty hand
Leads forth in beauty all the starry band
Of shining worlds in splendor through the skies,
Our grateful songs before Thy throne arise.

From war's alarms, from deadly pestilence,
Be Thy strong arm our ever sure defense;
Thy true religion in our hearts increase,
Thy bounteous goodness nourish us in peace.

Refresh thy people on their toilsome way,
Lead us from night to never-ending day;
Fill all our lives with love and grace divine,
And glory, laud, and praise be ever Thine.

THE WORLD GOES ROLLING ON

Kingsley

Babies are crying and there's no one to listen,
And old folks are dying and there's no one to miss them,
But still the world goes rolling on and on,
Still the world goes rolling on.

Bellies are growling and there's no one to feed them,
And people are howling and there's no one to lead them,
But still the world goes rolling on and on,
Still the world goes rolling on.

We have a vision of a world without chaos,
A practical vision, because with or without us
The world will still go rolling on and on,
And we would like to ride along.

TALLIS CANON

Glory to Thee, my God, this night,
For all the blessings of the light.
Keep me, O keep me, King of Kings,
Beneath Thine own almighty wings.
